MOSCOW FOR ARMY CONFERENCE, TOO

London-Paris View on This Step Awaited—Litvinov Urges Calling Parley of Democratic Nations That May Include U. S.

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—Authoritative diplomatic quarters said today Britain had proposed an anti-aggression declaration by itself, France, Soviet Russia and any other nation willing to join a common "stop Hitler" front.

These quarters said the anti-aggression declaration was offered as a counterproposal to a Russian suggestion for a joint conference of democratic nations to consider means of resisting possible German aggression.

It was not clear whether the Russian proposal included participation of the United States in such a conference.

The view in London, however, was that American participation would be welcomed if it could be obtained.

Maxim Litvinov, Soviet Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, these quarters said, communicated the conference suggestion to the British Embassy in Moscow.

Shift in British View.
Litvinov made similar proposals after both the German absorption of Austria March 15, 1938, and after German annexation of Czecho-Slovakia's Sudetenland last September. Britain, however, rejected them.

Now, reliable reports said, Britain is considering Moscow's plan favorably although still retaining a preference for an anti-aggression declaration to serve notice on Germany.

Litvinov was understood to be insisting that any international move to stop Germany—whether through a conference or an anti-aggression declaration—should be accompanied by military staff consultations among Britain, France and Russia.

Nine-Power Parley Likely.
Moscow, it was said, is waiting for British and French reaction to this request and diplomatic quarters declared there was a distinct possibility that both London and Paris would accept the Russian condition.

A conference of joint measures probably would be a nine-power parley. Besides Britain, France and Russia, it was said, Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria would be invited to attend.

According to these reports the declaration would not commit any nation automatically to go to war but, by implication, would involve mutual defense against an aggression.

Its Primary Purpose.
The primary purpose would be to secure consultation among the subscribers should Germany attempt to repeat against another state it did in Czecho-Slovakia.

Prime Minister Chamberlain earlier had told the House of Commons that Britain's colonial defense program would be reviewed in light of three British steps in announcing Germany's eastward drive in Europe.

A decision to send a trade mission to Rumania to counter German economic pressure in trade

In Touch With Russia.

British officials also had stated that the Government "may be expected to follow a policy of ex-

TWO RUSSIANS GET PRISON TERMS FOR ESPIONAGE IN U. S.

Michael Gorin Sentenced for Six Years, Hafis Salich for Four, and Each Is Fined $10,000.

LOS ANGELES, March 20 (AP).— Michael Gorin, Pacific Coast manager of Intourist, Soviet Government agency, was sentenced in United States District Court here today to serve six years in a Federal penitentiary and fined $10,000 for espionage.

Hafis Salich, Russian-born ex-navy intelligence agent, convicted with Gorin, was sentenced to four years' imprisonment and fined $10,000.

United States District Judge
Ralph E. Jenney denounced Gorin for violating "the hospitality this country so graciously extended" him, and declared he would be deported "as an undesirable alien upon the expiration of his prison term."

The Judge denounced Salich for proving false to the oath of allegiance to the United States he took when he became a citizen.

Gorin's attitude of calm, maintained throughout the trial of the two men and Natasha Gorin, his wife, was shattered when Judge Jenney pronounced sentence. He winced.

Mrs. Gorin was acquitted on a charge of conspiracy after other counts against her had been dismissed by the Court.

The pair were charged with stealing information concerning Japanese activity from confidential navy files and transmitting it to Russia. Salich was alleged to have received $1700 from Gorin for his part.

"It is indeed fortunate for you that your offenses were not committed in time of war so that it would then be necessary for me to impose the death penalty," Judge Jenney said.

BERLIN, March 20 (AP).—Germany and Lithuania were reported today to have reached an understanding on Germany's possible annexation of Memel.

The outcome of conversations between Jukilas Urybas, Lithuanian Foreign Minister, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, was described as:

1. Germany will receive Memel with open arms if and when Memellanders make known their desire to get "home into the Reich."

2. Lithuania will consider itself rid of unnecessary ballast.

The ostensible cause for Memel's reunion with Germany, however, will be Memel itself—not Germany or Lithuania.

The Memel Landtag, meeting
March 25 (Saturday), is expected to raise the cry of self-determination with a demand to "get home to the Reich."

Then Hitler's marching columns would enter Memel as liberators.

Whether the Lithuanian attitude was prompted by events in Central Europe or whether Lithuania intended to offer Memel to Germany anyway, Urybas appeared to have become convinced that loss of the 1099 square-mile district would be good riddance.

Memel was detached from Germany by the Versailles Treaty and later placed under Lithuanian sovereignty with a measure of autonomy.

Economic Considerations.
Lithuania, it was said, would offer attractive economic terms for Germany's purchase of its produce —chiefly geese, butter, eggs and timber.

as prepared to find the Memel Landtag's expected self-determination cry "most reasonable," Lithuanian diplomatic quarters were positive their foreign minister had no intention of applying for a protectorate for his country.

"If anybody tries to enter our country by force of arms," one Lithuanian said, "we will resist to the last and defend our independence."

Both von Ribbentrop and Urybas were understood to have agreed that settlement of the Mem-el question need not disturb relations between the two countries.

It was announced earlier today that Count Johannes von Weizsaeck, German Ambassador to Paris, had been ordered "to return to Berlin to report."

French Ambassador Robert Cou-londe, called back Saturday by his Government, already had left the German capital.

With Reichsfuehrer Hitler back in his chancellery, the press hinted at a possible cancellation of the 1935 British-German naval treaty in reply to Great Britain's protest over the Nazi absorption of Czecho-Slovakia.

Hitler Sees Advisers.
Responsible sources indicated that Memel was one of the chief topics under discussion last night at a conference between Hitler and various trusted lieutenants, but it was vigorously denied that anything like a protectorate over Lithuania was intended.

It was also admitted that the precarious state of relations with Great Britain was likewise a major topic. Whether Germany actually would abrogate the 1935 naval agreement could not be learned.

Albert D. Weber, East St. Louis brick contractor, drew Royal Mail, one of the first 10 favorites in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes drawing today at Dublin. Three other prize-winning tickets were held by residents of St. Louis and East St.
Louis.

Albert Ritson, East St. Louis accountant and father of six children, drew the horse, Tuckmill. Holders of tickets on the winning horse at the Grand National Sweepstakes to be run Friday at Aintree will receive $150,000. For second place they will receive $75,000 and for third $50,000. In any event, those who drew horses, whether they run or not, will get $2650.

The other local prize-winners were a group of 10 office employes of the St. Louis Dairy Co. who contributed 26 cents each to buy one ticket, and Joseph M. Arnold and his daughter, Lucy, who operate a barbecue stand at 2118 Ridge avenue, East St. Louis. Each of these two tickets were for horses that will not run in the race but, nevertheless, won $2650 for the ticket holders.

To Go Into Retirement Fund.

Unaware of the good fortune,
Mrs. Weber, a middle-aged woman, who shared the ticket with her husband, was sunning herself on the back porch of their home at 724
North Thirteenth street, when a Post-Dispatch reporter found her.

She was incredulous. After repeating "I can't believe it," a half-dozen times, she hastened to telephone and made several futile efforts to reach her husband.

They had bought sweepstakes tickets for several years, she said, and they would not be interested in selling a share of the ticket. Proceeds, whatever they might be, she added, would be placed in their retirement fund.

Wife Knew Nothing of It.

Mrs. Ritson, busy with getting five of their six children off to school, was unable to identify the holder of a ticket issued to "Marly" when a Post-Dispatch reporter called at the Ritson home at 802 Market avenue, East St. Louis. No one by that name lived there, she said, and she knew nothing of sweepstakes tickets.

She was speechless after a telephone call to her husband, at his office in the accounting department of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. in St. Louis, disclosed that he had bought the ticket without mentioning it to her.

The name, "Marly," which he had signed when buying the ticket and giving his residence address, represented the first syllables of the names of their two daughters, Marie and Lucille, he explained.

Ritson said he would decline any

ON SALE OF ARMS

Senate Committee Says

ORDER WAS GIVEN
CHEMICAL COMPANY

Civil Liberties Group Reports Industrial Firms Bought More Tear Gas Than Law Forces Did.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Employers and law enforcement agencies bought $1,255,312 worth of tear and sickening gas in the years from 1933 through June of 1937,
"chiefly during or in anticipation of strikes," the LaFollette Civil Liberties Committee reported today, recommending legislative steps to end large scale industrial munition-ing.

Among the purchases was a $1656 order of the St. Louis Police Department, for which Lieut. Nick Bosch, firearms expert and drill master, was said to have received a commission of $82.80. A letter obtained from the files of the Lake Erie Chemical Co., indicated a salesman recommended to the sales manager that the commission be paid Lieut. Bosch.

The largest single purchaser of gas and gas equipment in the country, the report shows, was the Republic Steel Corporation, which bought four times as much as the largest law enforcement agency.

Republic Steel bought $79,712 in gas and gas equipment; United States Steel, $62,028; Bethlehem
Steel, $36,173; Youngstown Sheet
& Tube Co., $28,385; General Motors Corporation, $26,957; Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., $16,912 and National Steel Corporation, $12,085. The total for the 20 largest corporations was $375,992 and a large number paid out sums under $5000 for gas and gas equipment.

In comparison, the largest law enforcement purchaser was the Ohio National Guard, which paid out $20,234 to chemical companies for gas.

No Justification for Arsenal.

"The munitions purchases of large corporations and the arsenal of munitions maintained by certain corporations were quantitatively greater than required by the normal protective needs of the country," the committee reported. "The committee can see no justification for the maintenance of arsenals containing army-type machine guns, submachine guns, large numbers of army rifles and rifles of lesser caliber shotguns of the regular repeating and sawed-off types, and pistols and revolvers of all makes and calibers as well as prodigious quantities of gas and gas equipment irrelevantly unsuitable for use except in police large crowds of people.

Neither can the committee understand why industrial corporations should purchase tear gas and tear gas weapons in quantities many times greater than those required by the police departments of some of our largest cities."

The report does not recommend specific legislation, merely pointing to the dangers inherent in such arsenals and the need for regulation. The danger is particularly great, according to the report, with companies "whose managerial and supervisory staff is schooled in an unbending policy of anti-unionism."

Danger of Mob Violence.
"The deep significance of the unregulated and unlimited purchase of arms by a corporation which harbors such purposes should not be overlooked," the report said.

"Lack of restraint on the part of a corporation, or the whim of a plant policeman could perfectly well result in arming a mob with gas guns or revolvers from the company's arsenal, turning a disorderly situation into something very close to civil war."

"In view of the fact that other corporations whose animosity toward the process of union organization has been proven . . . have large stores not only of gas but of revolvers, shotguns and machine guns, the need of taking legislative steps becomes apparent. The use of such stores of ammunition and arms by vigilante groups has been a possibility more than once in the bitter industrial disputes of the last four years. What has saved the country from more tragic occurrences has been its good fortune rather than its good sense. Steps should be taken to prevent the possibility that such arms may fall into the hands of lawless groups in the future."

that purchased more than $1000

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—William O. Douglas of Connecticut, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, was nominated by President Roosevelt today for the Supreme Court seat vacated by the retirement of Justice Louis D.
Brandeis. Douglas, 40 years old last October, is one of the youngest men ever appointed to the court.

The selection of Douglas was a victory for the Thomas Corcoran-Jerome Frank bloc of White House advisers. A spirited under-cover campaign had been directed against him by another less influential group of young New Dealers, who argued that the young SEC chairman had been too friendly with big business, notably the New York Stock Exchange.

Western Background.

By designating Douglas, a resident of Connecticut, President Roosevelt followed the advice of Senator George W. Norris, who insisted that geographic considerations should have little part in the naming of Supreme Court Justices.
Douglas' early Western background, however, was a strong factor in his selection. He was born in Maine, Minn., the son of a poorly paid missionary. As a boy he was taken to the State of Washington, where he worked his way through Whitman College at Walla Walla. He came East to attend Columbia University law school, at which he made a notable academic record. He is on leave from the Yale University law school, where he is the Sterling professor of law.

The other outstanding candidates for the nomination were Dean Wiley R. Rutledge Jr., formerly of the Washington University Law School in St. Louis, now of the University of Iowa law school, and United States Circuit Judge Florence E.
Allen of Cleveland. As late as last night, there were rumors that the President might select Attorney-General Frank Murphy. The names of Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington and United States Judge Harold M. Stephens of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals were eliminated several weeks ago.

Precedent Followed.

In the Douglas appointment, the President followed the precedent he established in the selection of Justice Hugo L. Black, Stanley Reed, and Felix Frankfurter; that is, he selected a nominee who in his personal friend and one whose ideas are known to be in harmony with his own.

Although Douglas was nominated from Connecticut, he will have the support of most Western Senators when the Senate votes on his confirmation. Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, has been one of his strongest advocates, and he has the active support of Senator Bone of Washington, who did not want the place to go to his colleague and political rival, Senator Schwellen-bach. Many Senators would have preferred the nomination of former Senator Sam Bratton of New Mexico, one of President Roosevelt's first appointments to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

There is no evidence that Douglas' nomination will encounter

Woman Held Up,

ON WAY TO BANK

Joseph F. Kaminski, a steel worker, shot and killed himself shortly after 9 o'clock this morning after gravely wounding his wife, Mrs. Felice Kaminski, in an argument in their home at 2342 Sullivan avenue.

The shooting apparently was the culmination of a series of quarrels between Kaminski and his wife in recent months, chiefly over money in their joint bank account.

Kaminski, 49 years old, was found by police in the front room of the home, shot in the right temple and still holding the revolver he had used.

Mrs. Kaminski, 47, was found in a yard behind the home, wounded in the chest and right arm.

Both were taken to City Hospital, where Kaminski died less than an hour later. Mrs. Kaminski was not expected to recover. One of the bullets penetrated her right lung, and an immediate blood transfusion was ordered.

In the home at the time were three children of the Kaminskis, Jeanette, 17; Joseph Robert, 8, and
Mrs. Josephine Ackermann, 3132A Rolla place, who was visiting her parents.

Mrs. Ackermann told a Post-Dispatch reporter she was in the living room and heard her parents arguing in a back bedroom.
"I heard a shot, and then another shot," she said, "and ran into the bedroom."

"Dad fired another shot toward me and ran into the front room.
I heard another shot from that room as I was going to help my mother, who was lying against a table."

Jeanette and Joseph Robert were in another bedroom when they heard the first of the shots. Neither was able to give a clear account of what had happened. Mrs. Kaminski apparently went into the yard before collapsing.

Police found empty cartridges in all five chambers of the revolver and three others on the floor. It did not appear that Kaminski had fired eight shots, however, since only three bullets were found lodged in parts of the bedroom.

Capt. Robert Agee of the North

RUMANIA READY TO VIEL IN PART TO GERMANY'S TRADE DEMANDS

NEGOTIATIONS ARE IN FINAL STAGES

Reich Wants Output From Rich Oil and Wheat Lands
—Rumors Add to Anxiety at Bucharest.

BUCHAREST, March 20 (AP).—Rumania appeared ready today to make economic concessions to Germany but stood firm against the surrender of any political rights.

Negotiations between Dr. Helmut Wohltat, German trade expert, and the Rumanian Finance Ministry were taking place here. The discussions were said to be approaching a conclusion in an atmosphere of "understanding on both sides."

But it was also asserted that no political problems nor German-Rumanian relations were being discussed. Rumanians admitted that their trade with Germany would be increased to a marked degree, but they said that the complete German demands were not being met.

Guns Built by Skoda.
It was revealed that the German absorption last week of Bohemia-Moravia considerably affected the Rumanian military position. This is because many of Rumania's guns and other military equipment were built by the Skoda works, now in German hands. The problem of getting replacements for these armaments was made difficult.

Rumania, like Czechoslovakia before her, looked to the west today for help in resisting German pressure.

The biggest news in Government circles today was the report that the British Cabinet was considering the plight of the Balkans which lie directly in the path of the German drive to the east.

Details of negotiations by which Germany sought to dominate Rumanian import and export markets and to the exclusion of the rest of the world were unknown to Rumanians at large.

500,000 at Frontiers.
High official quarters emphasized, however, that Rumania had not received any German ultimatum. At the same time it was made known that the Rumanians had rejected the latest German trade proposal.

As if to guard her rich oil and wheat lands pending some settlement that would not obliterate her independence, Rumania held at least 500,000 men, called from a dozen army classes, at her frontiers.

There was no general mobilization though, nor were any of the yearly classes called in full. The standing army formed the backbone of the defenses. Authorities said enough soldiers were at their posts to prevent a surprise from any quarter.

Much of the Rumanian strength was concentrated along the southern border of Carpatho-Ukraine, now part of the kingdom of Hungary. This was the part of Czechoslovakia Hungary took in the breakup of the republic last week; Germany got the rest.

Rumania and Czechoslovakia, with Yugoslavia, were partners in the little entente and were bound by non-aggression treaties. Now, along the Carpatho-Ukraine border, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary, which had extensive territorial claims against the Bucharest Government.

50 Pct. Proposed First.
Rumania's greatest worry, however, was over Germany's trade desires.

The first German proposals, several weeks ago, contemplated German absorption of about 50 per cent of Rumanian petroleum and agricultural products.

It was reliably reported that it also was proposed that the Rumanian lei bear some definite, fixed relation to the value of the German mark and that German enterprise be given concessions for the manufacture of cellulose products in the Orested delta of the Danube.

Then came the unforeseen German coup in Czechoslovakia. Apparently stimulated by this success, Germany was said to have increased her economic pressure on Rumania.

Rumors Add to Worry.
The additional pressure came at a moment when Rumania's tactical position had been weakened by lengthening the frontier with only nominally friendly Hungary.

Rumania awoke to a realization that the German demand for trade concessions might be emphasized by a show of military force.

Bucharest, like all frightened communities in Europe's succession of crises, was disturbed by rumors. One was that a German warship lay off the Black Sea port of Constantia; another, that Hungarian planes were flying over Transylvania.

The latter had an element of

JAPAN CONGRATULATES HITLER; TERMS SEIZURE 'MAGNIFICENT DECISION'

BERLIN, March 20 (AP).

JAPAN'S "honest and sincere congratulations" to Germany on the newly-acquired territory in Czechoslovakia awaited Reichsfuehrer Hitler last night on his return to the capital.

They were delivered by Japanese Ambassador Lieutenant-General Hiroshi Oshima in a message to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

The message spoke of Hitler's "great successes in the last few days" and added:

"It is our firm conviction that the courageous decision of the Chancellor, outstanding in magnificence, is a highly important step for the pacification of Europe and thus your excellency, for the maintenance of world peace."

Gen. Oshima delivered the message after receiving telegraphic instructions from the Japanese Foreign Minister, Hiroshi Arima.

Hungarian Families, Expelled From Rumania, Cross Frontier.
BEREGSZASZ, Hungary, March 20 (AP).—Hundreds of Hungarian families, expelled from Rumania, crossed the frontier into their homeland yesterday.

Families who arrived in Hungary by six frontier posts along the Carpatho-Ukraine border said they had been dispossessed of their farms before their expulsion.

Refugees, carrying but few belongings, were taken by Hungarian soldiers into the interior in requisitioned farm wagons.

They told Hungarian officers that Rumanian officials had declared:

"We want no Hungarian speakers here."

The refugees will be taken care of by the Hungarian Government. Meanwhile the concentration of Hungarian troops in Carpatho-Ukraine, occupied by Hungary at the break-up of Czechoslovakia, continued.

Trucks and trains were bringing mobilized soldiers to the North through this city, which formerly was a part of Czechoslovakia but which was ceded to Hungary after the Vienna award of Nov. 2.

Officers said they understood all men up to the age of 50 were being called to the colors.

(The large province of Transylvania, adjoining Hungary in Rumania, formerly was Hungarian. It was ceded to Rumania after the World War.)

U. S. CALLS ENVOY HOME, CLOSES PRAGUE LEGATION

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The United States closed its legation in Prague today and ordered its Minister to Czechoslovakia to return to this country.

The Minister, Wilbur J. Carr, was directed to turn the legation over to American consular officials in Prague, capital of the latest country absorbed by Germany.

The State Department also released a cable from Carr, dated March 17, which said:

CONGRESSIONAL VIEWS ON CHOICE OF DOUGLAS

Senators Generally Approve Nomination—Some Westerners Disappointed.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The nomination of William O. Douglas to the United States Supreme Court drew expressions of approval from many Senators today, mingled with declarations of disappointment by some Western members.

Senator McNary (Rep., Ore.), the minority leader, said the nomination was "excellent," and added: "I am satisfied with his (Douglas) Westernism. I am confident that confirmation will be given without any undue delay or objection."

Senator Minton (Dem., Ind.), Indiana, and Guffey (Dem., Penn.), Pennsylvania, also voiced approval, but said they would have preferred the appointment of Senator Schwelbensch (Dem., Wash.), a consistent administration follower, who has been mentioned for the post.

Senator McCarran (Dem., Nev.), said: "I'm disappointed. I would have liked a real Westerner."

Senator Harrison (Dem., Miss.), said: "I do not know Mr. Douglas, but at hearings before the Senate Finance Committee last year he demonstrated a keen legal mind, a breadth of statesmanship and a fairness which was an inspiration."

Senator Maloney (Dem., Conn.), said: "I think it is a remarkable appointment and a credit to the President. It is a credit to the President to have chosen a man like Douglas."

Senator Adams (Dem., Colo.), described Douglas as "a Western man from Connecticut."

Senator Burke (Dem., Neb.), said: "I am greatly disappointed. We felt we needed someone from the West with special knowledge of such Western problems as mining, water rights and public lands."

Senator Danaher (Rep., Conn.), described the nomination as "splendid" and said Douglas was "highly qualified and competent."

Senator King (Dem., Utah), said, however, "they ought to have appointed a man who had some judicial experience—a man like Justice Harold Stephens of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia or Federal Circuit Judge Sam Bratton of New Mexico."

Senator Hatch (Dem., N. Mex.), said the subcommittee would meet at the earliest possible time and "if hearings are desired they will be held."

Senators Burke, Danaher, King and Hatch are members of a Senate subcommittee that will consider the Douglas nomination.

Speaker Bankhead of the House of Representatives said: "From what I know of his reputation, he is a very able man and ought to make a very acceptable Justice."

Barkley Gives Approval.
Senate Majority Leader Barkley (Dem., Kentucky), said: "Mr. Douglas has been an able, fair and constructive administrator. He is a profound student of the law and government. He is admirably equipped by training and experience."

Senators Johnson (Rep., Calif.),

ROOSEVELT ASKS CONGRESS TO LIMIT ON BONDS

No Need to Increase $45,000,000 Public Debt Maximum, However, He Says in Message.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—President Roosevelt transmitted today to Congress today for "such action as may be necessary" Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's report that there is no need to raise the $45,000,000 public debt limit, but that the $30,000,000 limit on long-term bonds should be removed.

The Morgenthau letter said it would not be necessary at this time to increase the total public debt above $45,000,000, because the Treasury still could issue about $5,000,000 of additional public debt obligations which would be sufficient to carry it well into 1940.

The text of Roosevelt's message follows:

"I am transmitting herewith a letter dated March 17, 1939, from the Secretary of the Treasury regarding the limitation placed upon the total amount of the public debt obligations which may be issued and outstanding at any one time under authority of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended."

"You will note from this letter that the Secretary of the Treasury feels that there will be no necessity for increasing the present limitation of $45,000,000 on the total public debt which may be outstanding at any one time, but does feel very strongly that it will be necessary to increase the limit of $30,000,000 on face amount of bonds which may be outstanding at any one time."

"I recommended that the Congress take such action as may be necessary to give the Treasury the authority which will enable it to carry out its financing operations during the next fiscal year as may be for the best interest of the Government in line with market conditions at the time of such financing."

Morgenthau's Letter.
The Morgenthau letter follows: "My dear Mr. President: The 'Second Liberty Bond Act,' as amended, provides that the face amount of bonds, certificates of indebtedness, Treasury bills and notes issued under the authority of that act, and certificates of indebtedness issued under the authority of Section 6 of the First Liberty Bond Act, shall not exceed in the aggregate $45,000,000 outstanding at any one time and provides further that the face amount of bonds issued willing that limitation shall not exceed in the aggregate $30,000,000 outstanding at any one time."

"At the present time the Treasury can issue approximately $5,000,000 face amount of additional public debt obligations under the second Liberty Bond Act. On the basis of the current budget estimates the Treasury will be sufficient to carry the Treasury well into 1940. I do not believe, therefore, that it is necessary to request at this time an increase in the limitation on the total debt that may be issued and outstanding under authority of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended."

Limitation on Bonds Insufficient.
"The limitation of $30,000,000 on outstanding bonds presents, however, a different problem. The amount of bonds which the Treasury can issue within this limitation, after taking into consideration the March 15 refunding operations, is approximately $1,800,000,000. Taking into consideration our cash requirements between now and Jan. 1, 1940, the monthly issuance of United States savings bonds, and the possibility of refunding operations which the Treasury wishes to conduct, it seems quite apparent that the balance of $1,800,000,000 will not be sufficient to give the Treasury that latitude required in its financial operations over the next few months."

"In order that the Treasury may be in a position to take advantage of favorable market conditions and not be forced to confine all of its financing operations to short-term obligations, I strongly urge that a recommendation be made to the Congress that the limitation of $30,000,000 on bonds be eliminated entirely so as to give the Treasury the flexibility it needs for its financing operations during the next fiscal year."

nia, and Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.), declined to comment. "I don't know him," Johnson told reporters.

Senator Capper (Rep., Kans.), said: "I guess it's acceptable. I believe he is pretty well qualified."

"I'm satisfied with Douglas," said Senator Norris (Ind.), Nebraska. "He is a mighty good man for the place."

In response to a question, Norris said he did not believe geographical considerations would figure importantly in the Senate's attitude toward the nomination.

"That is a proper consideration but a very minor one when it comes to considering qualifications," Norris said.

Senator Schwartz (Dem., Wyo.), expressed disappointment that a Westerner had not been chosen, but called it "a good appointment."

SOVIETS CONDEMN NAZI SEIZURE OF CZECH PROVINCES

Refuse to Recognize Annexation and Declare Berlin Policy Is Arbitrary and Aggressive.

MOSCOW, March 20 (AP).—The Soviet Government refused yesterday to recognize Adolf Hitler's absorption of Czechoslovakia and condemned it.

A Russian note to Germany asserted that "in the absence of any expression of the will of the Czech people, the occupation of Czechia (Bohemia-Moravia) by German troops and subsequent actions of the German Government cannot but be considered as arbitrary, violent and aggressive."

The note added that "the above remarks also refer in their entirety to the change in the status of Slovakia, subordinating the latter to the German empire, which was not justified by any expression of the will of the Slovak people."

Sixth, the actions of the German Government served as a signal for gross invasion of Carpatho-Ukraine (Carpatho-Ukraine) by Hungarian troops and for violation of the elementary rights of its population.

Blow to Security.
Seventh, in view of the above, the Soviet Government cannot recognize inclusion of Czechia and also, in one form or another, of Slovakia into the German Empire to be legitimate and in conformity with generally accepted standards of international law and justice or the principle of self-determination of nations.

Eighth, in the opinion of the Soviet Government, the actions of the German Government, far from eliminating any danger to universal peace, have, on the contrary, created and enhanced this danger, violated political stability in Central Europe, increased elements of alarm already previously created in Europe and dealt a fresh blow to the security of peoples.

I have the honor to ask you to convey the above to your Government.

U. S. TO SEND GERMANY NOTE ON CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Expected to Do More Than Acknowledge Absorption of Reich's Expansion.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP). Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles said today the State Department had neither received nor sent any communication from or to any foreign government with regard to the situation in Central Europe, with the exception of a note from Germany announcing the absorption of Czechoslovakia.

This Government's reply to the German note, he said, will be given to the German Embassy late today, but will not be made public until tomorrow. The note is expected to be more than a mere acknowledgment of the receipt of the German note.

For years the Russian people have been reminded that the Soviet Union must be prepared always for attempts to invade its territory, but the press never has cast the slightest doubt on the country's ability to defend itself single-handed.

Possibly the source of this often-expressed confidence lies partly in the recollection that the ragged red army defeated foreign efforts to intervene during the Bolshevik revolution.

Whatever the source, the calm willingness to wait for the enemy to arrive has caused foreign observers to wonder sometimes if a Soviet-German rapprochement is only around the corner.

It is true that Joseph Stalin in a recent speech accused enemies of the Soviet Union of trying to "poison the atmosphere and provoke a conflict with Germany without any visible grounds," but he also said that if there were lunatics in Germany dreaming of annexing the Soviet Ukraine they could "rest assured that we shall find enough strait jackets for them in our country."

Text of Soviet Rebuke to Germany

MOSCOW, March 20, (AP).

FOLLOWING is the text of the Soviet Russian note addressed to the German Ambassador in Moscow, Count Friedrich Werner von der Schulenberg, signed by Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov and condemning German absorption of Czechoslovakia, as issued by Tass (official Soviet Russian) news agency:

I have the honor to confirm receipt of your notes dated the 16th and 17th instant, informing the Soviet Government of the inclusion of Czechia (Bohemia-Moravia) in the German empire and of the establishment of a German protectorate over it.

The Soviet Government does not consider it possible to pass the above-mentioned notes in silence and thus create the false impression of its allegedly indifferent attitude to Czechoslovak events and, therefore, finds it necessary in answer to the above notes, to express its real attitude to the aforesaid events.

First, the political and historical conceptions expounded in the introductory part of the German ordinance as grounds and justification for a people that the head of the Czechoslovak state as a source of constant unrest and menace to European peace, to lack of vitality of the Czechoslovak state and to resulting necessity for particular care on the part of the German empire, cannot be considered as correct and justifiable in fact.

Secondly, the Soviet Government is not aware of any constitution of state that entitles the head of state to abolish its independent existence as a state without the consent of its people. It is difficult to admit that any people would voluntarily agree to the destruction of its independence and to inclusion in another state, and still less with regard to a people that for hundreds of years fought for its independence.

In signing the Berlin act of the 15th instant, Hacha, President of Czechoslovakia, had no authority from his people for doing so and acted in manifest contradiction to articles 64 and 65 of the Czechoslovak Constitution. Consequently, the aforesaid act cannot be considered legally valid.

For years the Russian people have been reminded that the Soviet Union must be prepared always for attempts to invade its territory, but the press never has cast the slightest doubt on the country's ability to defend itself single-handed.

Possibly the source of this often-expressed confidence lies partly in the recollection that the ragged red army defeated foreign efforts to intervene during the Bolshevik revolution.

Whatever the source, the calm willingness to wait for the enemy to arrive has caused foreign observers to wonder sometimes if a Soviet-German rapprochement is only around the corner.

It is true that Joseph Stalin in a recent speech accused enemies of the Soviet Union of trying to "poison the atmosphere and provoke a conflict with Germany without any visible grounds," but he also said that if there were lunatics in Germany dreaming of annexing the Soviet Ukraine they could "rest assured that we shall find enough strait jackets for them in our country."

GOV. STARK SIGNS SMALL LOAN BILL AND TELLS WHY

Governor Approves Curb on Salary-Buying but Objects to 3 Pct. Interest as Too High.

URGES LEGISLATURE TO RECONSIDER RATE

Says Experience Will Determine Whether Rise From 2 1/2 Pct. a Month Is Excessive.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 20.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark signed the small loan bill today and sent to the House a message explaining his action, which he believes will result in a net benefit to the public.

He said that he objected to the first provision of the bill, raising the permitted interest rate from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent a month on loans up to $100; but that this part of the measure could not be "separated from the second section, which outlaws the practice of salary buying."

"The proposed increase by this bill is 6 per cent per annum," the Governor said. "From what information I have, the licensed small loan companies now seeking an increase of 6 per cent per annum in interest rates have been making substantial profits under the existing interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent per annum."

"In my opinion, a statute permitting unnecessarily high interest rates or unnecessary taxation is legalized robbery."

"The anti-salary-buying remedy in Section 2 will, in my opinion, center on salary and wage earners in excess of the harm arising from the interest rate increase."

The Governor said that if the new rate, by practical application, is found to be too high, it may be amended by the next Legislature, and that in the meantime the evils of salary-buying will be escaped.

As passed, the bill did not contain any emergency clause, and the measure will not go into effect until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

The bill, originating in the House, was passed by the Senate March 8, after an unsuccessful attempt by Senator Allen McReynolds of Carthage to amend the measure, to keep the interest rate at 2 1/2 per cent. It had the endorsement of the Missouri Bar Association and of Better Business Bureaus. Representatives of the loan companies had been working for a year to obtain the increased interest rate.

MANY CITY LICENSE STICKERS STOLEN; IMPROPERLY PUT ON

Motorists Failing to Apply Them as Directed Are Warned They Won't Be Replaced.

Failure of motorists to attach city license stickers properly to windshields has resulted in the theft of approximately 200 of the stickers in the last week, police estimated today.

License Collector Fred A. Renick told a reporter the sticker, if applied according to directions on the transparent envelope containing it, cannot be stolen. Many persons, he said, have asked for duplicate stickers to replace stolen ones, but the law makes no provision for such replacement and a new license must be purchased at the full price. A duplicate is issued for $1 only on proof the old sticker has been destroyed.

Some motorists, waiting for warmer weather before wetting and applying the stickers, have attached them, envelope and all, to the windshield with tape.

PLANE COLLISION AT AIRPORT

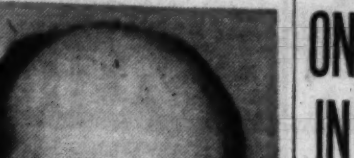

Army Craft Upset in Ground Crash; Two Men in It Unhurt.

The wing of a training monoplane was damaged and the propeller of an army attack ship was bent in a ground collision at Municipal Airport yesterday afternoon.

The army pilot applied his brakes suddenly, causing his plane to nose over, but its two occupants were unhurt.

ST. CLAIR COUNTY CLERK FINDS COPY OF GRAFT CONFESSION

Deputy Turns Up Tax Scandal Record, Sought in SEC Battle.

Fixing Inquiry.

A copy of the signed confession of Addison J. Throop, former member of the St. Clair County Board of Tax Review, telling of his participation in the East Side tax graft scandal of 1931-33, was found today among the records of the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Belleville. Throop pleaded guilty in the court in January, 1934, to the charge of conspiracy to solicit bribes, and was sent to Menard prison, from which he was released last November after serving three and one-half years.

Investigators of the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission called on State's Attorney Louis P. Zerweck in Belleville Saturday, and asked for a copy of the Throop confession. Zerweck could not immediately find the document, but today Deputy Circuit Clerk Bert F. Wuerz said it had been in its regular place in the court records, kept in the Clerk's office. The document has 84 typewritten pages.

The SEC investigators, it was understood, were looking into the transactions which caused Throop to favor corporations in matters of tax reduction. One of the corporations mentioned in the confession was the Union Electric Co. of St. Louis.

TAVERN OWNER IN FATAL ROW CITED FOR LICENSE VIOLATION

John W. Newhouse, Who Killed Rival, Is One of Six Saloon Keepers Cited.

Six tavern proprietors, among them John W. Newhouse, owner of a saloon at 2601 Hickory street, who admitted to police Saturday he shot and killed Joseph Gialino during a brawl in his place at midnight Friday, were cited today by Excise Commissioner Lawrence McDaniel to appear April 5 and show cause why their liquor licenses should not be suspended or revoked.

The reason for the citation in Newhouse's case was disorderly conduct, others were for alleged violation last night of the Sunday closing regulation. The proprietors were: William Steinmann, who has a tavern at 4300 Pleasant street; Catherine Fania, 3537 North Grand boulevard; Oscar Hartman, 5478 Wabasha avenue; Carlo Grillo, 1600 Franklin avenue, and Louis J. Marlow, 2907 North Fourteenth street.

Woman Gives Explanation After Driver Is Detained.

BEAR RIVER CITY, Utah, March 20 (AP).—James Jensen saw a truck pass close to Mrs. Earl Thompson and her 2-year-old son. He saw them fall into a pit. He telephoned the license number of the truck to police.

The driver denied any knowledge of the accident. Mrs. Thompson bore him out. "The truck didn't hit us," she said. "A dog chasing the truck bumped into us and knocked us down."

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO DRIVEN BY SON'S FRIEND

Kenneth Miller Says He Did Not See Mrs. Edna Barbour of Wellston Until Machine Struck Her.

Mrs. Edna Barbour, a widow, was killed at 7 o'clock last night in the 6700 block of Page avenue, Wellston, by an automobile driven by a friend of her son.

The driver, Kenneth Miller, a clerk, 1340 North Kingsland avenue, Wellston, told officers he was driving east at about 30 miles an hour and did not see Mrs. Barbour in the street until his automobile hit her. He stopped and recognized his victim as the mother of Carroll Barbour, a friend and former schoolmate.

Mrs. Barbour, 45 years old, resided at 6729 Schofield avenue, Wellston, and was on her way to service at Kingsland Memorial Presbyterian Church. She was pronounced dead of a head injury at County Hospital. Miller was released on bond pending an inquest.

AMERICAN QUILTS AS ARCHITECT FOR GERMAN EMBASSY

Tells Nazis Recent Actions So Shock Him He Could Be of No Further Service.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—Harry Francis Cunningham informed Dr. Hans Thomsen, Charge d'Affaires of the German Embassy, today that "it has become impossible for me to continue in my present capacity as associate architect for the proposed new German Embassy Building in Washington."

Cunningham, in a letter to Dr. Thomsen, said German Government architects had delayed since September sending him data necessary to the work and had thus deterred him and his collaborators. Cunningham served as an architect for devastated areas in France from 1920 to 1922, drawing plans for 17 destroyed villages in the department of Aisne. He had served as a captain in the World War.

With Goodhue & Associates, he was in charge of continuation of the Nebraska State Capitol from 1920 to 1922, drawing plans for 17 destroyed villages in the department of Aisne. He had served as a captain in the World War.

"I have received applications enough—especially since the Post-Dispatch told of the tour," Uryeda added, "but I am afraid that the persons who wrote to me are not exactly suitable."

GOOD-WILL JUNKET TO JAPAN TO HAVE NO ST. LOUISAN ALONG

Qualified Business Men Too Busy to Join Tour at Expense of Tokyo Government.

St. Louis will not be represented in the group of American business men that is to sail for a good-will tour of Japan as guests of the Imperial Government late this month, Thomas T. Uryeda, manager of the Bridespur Hunt Club who has been seeking such a representative here, told the Post-Dispatch today.

"I gave up hope," he said, "when William R. Orthwein, attorney, told me that his business simply would not let him get away even though he had already applied for passports. Since the party sails March 30, there is not time to find another person."

Thomas N. Dysart, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Sidney Maestre, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., also declined invitations to join the tour, designed to offset American "misunderstanding" of Japan and consequent Japanese trade losses.

LONDON BROKERS REQUESTED TO PROTECT CZECH ACCOUNTS

Exchange Board Asks Members Not to Make Any Payments from Balances.

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—Members of the London Stock Exchange were requested by the governing body today not to make any payments from balances held by residents of Czechoslovakia and not to hand over any security held on behalf of Czech residents.

The European political tension depressed the London stock market today.

There was little selling. The spread between bid and asked prices was wide with values quoted considerably lower so that prospective buyers would find few shares offered for sale.

Leading British Government bonds reacted sharply. The 3½ per cent war loan was off two points at 95. German bonds were from two to four points weaker.

Lithuania Reported Ready To Let Hitler Have Memel

ever, predicted that Germany would take up the race in naval armaments as soon as practicable, at the same time bending every ounce of energy toward keeping up the strength of the army.

Maintaining the air strength would be considered easy, because Germany obtained an excellent supply of airplanes from Czechoslovakia.

For the immediate future, Government spokesmen intimated, German propaganda would be turned on an alleged effort at London to hinder negotiations between Dr. Helmuth Wöhltat, German economic expert, and the Rumanian Government for a trade agreement.

Goering Returning to Italy.

Reports that Hitler intends soon to summon the Reichstag were dismissed when it was announced that Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering intends to resume his "holiday" on the Italian Riviera tomorrow night. He was summoned back by the Chancellor just before the entrance of German troops into Moravia-Bohemia.

When he came back then from Italy, officials and commentators said that he had "by no means been resting, but had been at work." The remark seemed to indicate that renewed "holiday" would include a report to Premier Mussolini on the new central European situation and on German's attitude toward Italian aspirations concerning French colonial territory.

Hitler's Return to Berlin.

Hitler returned to Berlin last night acclaimed with the title of medieval German emperors, "augmentor of the Reich." Conferences in the swift tempo in which the Fuehrer works at times of his historic importance followed immediately.

Four times Hitler appeared spotlighted on the Chancellery balcony to receive the "hells" of a throng that welcomed him home from a tour of Germany's new protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia.

The multitude shouted for still another appearance but this was denied to them and an announcer urged the people to go home "because the Fuehrer has important conferences before him."

Field Marshal Goering, who shared the balcony spotlight with Hitler, had struck the keynote of the homecoming welcome to the Fuehrer when he gave the nation's pledge "never to relinquish this gigantic, this great and tremendously courageous creation of yours, come what may."

Welcomed by Guns and Bells.

Hitler made his entry to Berlin to the booming of a 21-gun salute, the pealing of church bells and the near-hysterical shrieks of Berliners packed along the three-mile route from Goerlitz railway station to the Chancellery.

Bundled in a heavy leather coat as a protection against the snow which later turned to rain, Hitler stood in the front of his big touring car, his hand upraised in salute.

Traveling up Unter den Linden, the Fuehrer and his escort passed under a dome of light raised against the sky by huge army searchlights.

The homecoming was in strange contrast to the unexpected departure of last Wednesday, when Hitler followed his troops into Bohemia and Moravia. The mass of people then was in ignorance of the historical developments. Last night they had been keyed up and schooled by the Press Propaganda Minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels.

On the way to the Chancellery the Fuehrer was greeted by shouts of "Hail Victory!" and "Hail, Augmentor of the Reich!"

At the railway station, Goering had welcomed him. In the welcoming party were Baron Konstantin von Neurath, newly-appointed "Reich protector of Bohemia and Moravia," and diplomatic representatives of Germany's partners in the anti-Comintern accord, Italy, Japan and Hungary.

Gains From Czech Seizure.

Foreign military observers took stock of the most important guns and other military equipment of latest design which fell into German possession as result of the bloodless conquest of Bohemia and Moravia.

The armament potentialities of the gigantic Skoda works, centered at Pilsen, and other arms factories also claimed attention in efforts to evaluate Germany's gain in the world arms race.

A Nazi commentator said: "We increase thereby our armaments advantage over the Western democracies without having set our armaments production or the necessary financial outlays into play for this useful circumstance."

Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, added a warning note for anyone desiring to disturb "the new German arrangement of Central Europe."

"Around us an empire is growing which gives Germans their position in Europe which was their due and is their due. The empire will be eternal because the German people is eternal," Voelkischer Beobachter declared.

"The new foundations laid down by Adolf Hitler are the ancient platforms of that empire which never existed for its own end but always bore the task of bringing peace to Central Europe."

"The peace of Central Europe is the peace of Europe if its omens are: the power and strength of Germany. Adolf Hitler is Germany's power and strength and with that the peace of Europe! May no one dare to disturb the order."

Broadcast to Youth.

In a nationwide broadcast to German youth yesterday, Education Minister Bernhard Rust restated the cardinal principle of Hitler's National Socialist movement.

"The National Socialist state always has considered it its duty to safeguard the national existence of men of German blood on their historic soil," Rust said. "It will continue on this road in all eternity."

The Foreign Office mouthpiece, Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz, chose yesterday for particular criticism a report that "Germany had sent an ultimatum which, in its end effect, intends to bring about the economic subjugation of Rumania to Germany." It added:

"The truth, however, that an economic co-operation useful to both sides actually is being negotiated at the moment is carefully suppressed."

"Attempts at intrigue are also being made in Belgrade. However, the Reich views a strong, independent Yugoslavia ruled after its own will as a national necessity and at the same time an element of European stability."

The publication declared that attempts thus were being made to disturb Nazi relations with South-eastern European countries.

Comment on Naval Treaty.

The Berlin midday newspaper, B.Z. am Mittag, cited the British-German naval treaty as evidence of a German desire for friendship and added warningly:

"If the impression were to obtain in Germany that the English people are to be psychologized into conceptions which would make them most ardent enemies of Germany's existence, then logically the German tendency in the direction of an equalizing readjustment would be put to a radical halt."

The Frankfurter Zeitung:

"It would not have been difficult for us to build a larger fleet. The meaning of the treaty seems not to have been grasped in England."

Dr. Karl Silex, for many years London correspondent of Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung and now the paper's editor-in-chief, published a "serious word to England." He asked:

"Is England for or against us, for or against our Reich, for or against our continental position?"

Like his colleagues, Silex declared Germany could easily build more ships than the treaty limit of 35 per cent of Britain's fleet.

WATCH IN SILENCE
AS NAZIS PARADE

6000 Troops Goose-Step Past Reviewing Stand With Anti-Aircraft Batteries, Tanks, Artillery.

PRAGUE, March 20 (AP).—A parade of between 6000 and 8000 Nazi troops down St. Wenceslas Square yesterday gave the first real indication of the strength of the German army garrison in this former capital of Czechoslovakia. A fair sized crowd watched the parade, staged as a part of German army day observed throughout Greater Germany. Germans along the line of march saluted the regimental colors but for the most part the soldiers goose-stepped past lines of motionless, silent people.

Parts of the Fourth and Sixteenth Army Corps under the commands of Lieutenant-General Viktor von Schwedder and Major-General Huppner participated.

They included about 4000 infantrymen, a battalion each from the air force and field gendarmes, six anti-aircraft batteries, motorcycle and bicycle companies, 20 tanks and 100 pieces of light artillery.

Two-Hour Parade. It required two hours for the parade to pass the reviewing stand of Gen. Johannes von Blaskowitz, military ruler of Bohemia and commander of the Third Army group which comprises three army corps.

The troops marched from the Bohemian National Museum down the square, which is rather a four-lane boulevard leading to the center of the city.

How much military material Germany gained is a question. It was estimated, however, that what Germany got would enable it to hold out in any war about a year longer than it could have a week ago. Other assets are a gold supply of about $100,000,000, the potential capacity of the Skoda munitions factories and its mineral wealth.

3000 Planes Go to Nazis.

Germany obtained full equipment for 1,500,000 men, which in the opinion of experts is new and first-class. It also got 1500 first-line planes and as many second and third line bombers.

Excerpts from British Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech at Birmingham, England, Friday night attacking Adolf Hitler were printed here yesterday for the first time. They were accompanied by editorial comment denying the Prime Minister's statements.

Among arrests reported was that of Dr. Jan Kozak, professor of philosophy at Prague University and friend of former President Eduard Benes. He was also a member of the Czech Parliament.

EXPLOSION IN HOME KILLS MAN

Sewer Gas Escaping Into Bathroom Apparently the Cause.
RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., March 20 (AP).—Morgan James, 45 years old, coal miner and World War veteran, was killed instantly today when an explosion wrecked the bathroom of his home, tearing out one wall and throwing his body out onto a porch.

The house was not piped for gas for heating or other purposes and the theory was advanced that the explosion was caused by sewer gas which had escaped into the bathroom from the plumbing, igniting when James struck a match to light a cigarette.

South Carolina Governor Rejects Plea of Killers of Prison Guard.
COLUMBIA, S. C., March 20 (AP).—Gov. Burnet R. Maybank refused clemency today to six convicts condemned to the electric chair for the murder Dec. 12, 1937, of Guard Captain J. Olin Sanders in an attempt to escape from the penitentiary here.
The six are scheduled to be put to death early Friday. They had been sentenced to die March 10, but the Governor reprieved them for two weeks to study the case and their pleas for clemency. The condemned men are William B. Gentry of Biloxi, Miss.; J. V. Blair of Sumter, S. C.; Roy Suttles of Simpsonville, S. C.; Clayton Crans of Rochester, N. Y.; Herbert Mooreman of Detroit, and George Wingard of Columbia.

more than the nominal anti-New Deal opposition.
Senate Subcommittee Named to Consider Nomination.
By the Associated Press.
Chairman Ashurst (Dem., Arizona), of the Senate Judiciary Committee, appointed a seven-man subcommittee today to consider Douglas' nomination. With Western Senators predominating, the committee was listed as follows: Hatch of New Mexico, King of Utah, McCarran of Nevada, Burke of Nebraska and O'Mahoney of Wyoming, all Democrats, and Borah of Idaho and Danaher of Connecticut, Republicans.
The committee was expected to order hearings on the nomination within the next few days.
Douglas has been a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, which regulates the security markets, since 1936. He was elected chairman in 1937.
He has been on leave from Yale, where he had taught law since 1927. His nomination was announced while he was in a closed meeting of the SEC.
Son of Missionary Parents.
The son of poor missionary parents, he worked as farm hand, junk dealer and janitor, to get money for an education.
He attended grade school and high school at Yakima, Wash., where his family moved when he was 6 years old. Earlier the family had lived four years in California, going there from Maine, Minn., where Douglas was born.
In 1916 Douglas attended Whitman College, Walla, Walla, Wash., and four years later received a bachelor of arts degree. Then for two years he taught in the high school at Yakima.
He came East in 1922 by bumming his way on a freight train. When he arrived in New York he had 36 cents.
The next year, Douglas married Mildred M. Riddle of La Grande, Ore., a teacher. They have two children, Mildred, 7, and William, 5.
Douglas worked his way through Columbia University Law School, then got a job as one of New York's leading corporation law firms—Cravath, DeGersdorff, Swaine & Wood.
In two years he tired of that and returned to Columbia Law School, where he lectured from 1925 to 1927. By 1929 he had shifted to Yale Law School and was promoted to be Sterling professor of law, reputedly the highest paid post in the school.
How New Deal Found Him.
Those who profess to know say that it was a study of corporate reorganization by Douglas which first captured the attention of the New Deal. Joseph Patrick Kennedy was running the SEC during the first flush of the New Deal and heard Douglas had written an analysis of reorganization procedure. Few New Dealers had as sharp an eye for the intricacies of corporate finance as Kennedy. The latter, so the story goes, read the study, summoned Douglas. The result was Douglas' appointment to the SEC.
Three months after he became chairman, Douglas trained his sights on Wall Street. He demanded that the Stock Exchange "clean up—or else."
After effecting changes in the exchange, Douglas turned his attention to the utility industry to simplify holding company structures under the Utility Act of 1935. To this job Douglas has given himself. He has told the utilities simplification should be "evolutionary rather than revolutionary." The completion of the job, he has said, will take several years.
Since the administration began its current effort to reassure and stimulate business, the commission has relaxed its rules concerning "short" sales of securities, but Douglas balked indignantly a few days ago, however, at a proposal from the exchanges to make further changes in trading rules. He charged that the proposed changes would not help legitimate business but would benefit "manipulators" instead.
If the nomination is confirmed, and Douglas leaves the commission, officials said, George C. Matthews, senior member of the commission, probably would be temporary chairman.

Some suggested, however, that

THEORY OF LOSS MOTOR STUDIED

Crash of Airliner
Eyewitnesses Say Engine Fell From Plane When Air Supports Examined.
LOSS WOULD HAVE DISTURBED BALANCE
Expert Doubts Effort to Pull Ship Out of Port Plunge Preceded Fatal Plunge.

ALDER, Wash., March 20 (AP).—Aviation experts arrived today to examine the wrecked four-engine Boeing airliner which carried 10 occupants to death in a 10-foot plunge Saturday.
The wreckage of the $50,000 plane was studied to determine whether a structural fault was responsible for the crash. Thomas Hardin, Washington, vice-chairman of the Air Safety Board, of the Federal Aviation Administration, directed the investigation, while F. M. Marshall, vice-president and assistant general manager of the Boeing Aircraft Co., headed the building examiners.
Neither would hazard an opinion as to the cause of the accident. Marshall said he was confident investigation would disclose the plane nor the flying personnel was in any way at fault. He had some "pretty definite ideas" about what happened but declined to elaborate.
He added he thought eyewitnesses were saying the ship was pulled out of a power dive just before the crash.
Flight Was License Test.
The stratosphere ship, designed to carry 33 passengers and a crew of five on high altitude flights, had been undergoing a series of tests preparatory to applying for a license. It took off from Seattle at 12:55 p. m. Thirty-five minutes later it was a mass of wreckage on a hill about 55 miles south.
Frank Caldwell, chief of Civil Aeronautics Authority's inspection service, and Phil C. S. man, air safety investigator, arrived here yesterday from Chicago, made an extensive examination of the wreckage to determine if breaking of a motor mounting caused the crash.
One motor fell clear of the plane itself and lay buried two feet from the ground several hundred feet from the main part of the wreck. Eyewitnesses said the motor dropped from the plane before ship itself began to disintegrate under the terrific force of the crash.
Effect of Loss of Motor.
It was said a motor tearing loose would have subjected the plane enormous strain not directly attributable to the plane structure itself and might in addition have struck other parts of the plane, it fell away. The four-engine motors are heavy and loss of one of them could have thrown the badly out of structural balance.
Victims of the crash included G. von Baumhauer, aeronautics engineer for the Netherlands Government; Peter G. Guionard, assistant manager of the Royal Dutch Lines; and several American flight instructors. Guionard in Seattle had not been generally known. Von Baumhauer was a member of the Dutch Mission to the United States. Guionard came on private business.
No Military Implication in Crash, Says Official.
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—G. Grant Mason Jr., chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Authority's Foreign Problems Committee, today said the crash of a Boeing airliner at Alder, Wash., "had no military implications whatever."
Mason said in a statement that the stratosphere plane had not been admitted to the CAA for flight testing. "From the first conception of design," he declared, "it was an air transport plane and nothing else. In that character the Netherlands and K. L. M. have been interested in it for some time."

New Treatment for Constipation!

LD-LAX is the latest! The famous Battle Creek Sanitarium has found convincing evidence that most methods of treating constipation have, until now, been directed along the wrong lines. They have attempted to force your constipated colon with little regard for the cause of your constipation.

LD-LAX employs no force. Instead, it forms a soft, jelly-like bulge which moves gently through your colon, soothes irritated surfaces and cleanses away waste products causing a normal, natural bowel movement. It aids in preventing return of constipation by supplying special foods to the protective organisms in your colon which combat the bacteria that cause the formation of harmful waste products—often the direct cause of pimples, headaches, bad breath and gas-pains. Regular treatment, over several days, with LD-LAX should help restore the intestines to a healthy, normal state. Try this pleasant, easy to take, corrective food AT ONCE.

LD-LAX is available now from any of the reliable dealers listed below at $1.25 for a large bottle. Ask for a copy of "How to Use LD-LAX" for a large bottle. AIR BOARD ASKS FOR $7,300,000 TO TRAIN PILOTS

Member of Authority Tells House Committee Funds Are Needed to Instruct Civilians.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The Civil Aeronautics Authority, reporting that aggressor nations had "started us into action," asked Congress today for a $7,300,000 appropriation to train civilian air pilots.

Robert Hinckley, a member of the authority, told the House Interstate Commerce Committee that the agency's program to train 20,000 pilots for use in a possible emergency would be a "formidable and salutary deterrent" to an aerial attack against the Western Hemisphere.

It was in keeping with the American spirit of preparedness, Hinckley said, "to build up a great pool of men and machines dedicated to and engaged in the pursuits of peace but yielding first place to no other nation in flying skill or technical development."

"Only by such an approach, the authority believes, can the United States adequately safeguard itself against the vast militarization programs now being pressed with fanatical zeal by foreign Powers, unless it is to emulate their warlike preparations."

Hinckley said private flying, important as a backing of aerial power in the event of a national emergency, had been neglected. The supply of pilots in private aviation would be "totally inadequate to meet any national emergency," he asserted.

Hinckley said the authority's program contemplated use of commercial equipment at many colleges and universities throughout the nation. He disclosed that a total of 300 students already were taking the training in 12 schools.

Freshmen will be given preliminary flight training, and the best students continued in advanced flying in sophomore, junior and senior years.

The War and Navy Departments have approved the proposal, Hinckley said.

Britain Seeking to Form Anti-Nazi Front

pected to continue" closest discussions with Soviet Russia on Germany's expanding empire.

Chamberlain spoke after an extraordinary Cabinet session had decided to communicate immediately with Soviet Russia, Poland, Bulgaria and the Balkan states—Greece, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Turkey.

Authoritative sources, meanwhile, disclosed that both the Prime Minister and his Foreign Secretary, Viscount Halifax, had been "greatly enheartened" by Washington's condemnation of the German putsch in Southeastern Europe.

All members of the British Government, these sources said, now were convinced that the stand of the United States was one of the foremost to be considered in formulating British policy.

To Review Every Aspect. Chamberlain was asked whether, in view of Germany's acquisition of Czechoslovakia's war materials, he intended revising Britain's five-year defense program which called for a $1,500,000,000, 500,000-man plan and already has been expanded as a result of past crises.

Chamberlain replied in measured tones: "As I stated in my speech of Friday last, every aspect of national defense must be reviewed in the light of our national safety and this statement, of course, covers the national defense program."

He indicated also that the Government might consider barring sale to Germany of British pig scrap iron, vital to the manufacture of armaments.

Conscription Issue Develops. The question of universal conscription rapidly was becoming a political issue in Britain.

Chamberlain promised to provide the House with the text of the agreement signed at Berlin March 15 between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Emil Hacha, President of dissolved Czechoslovakia. The agreement placed Bohemia and Moravia within the Fuehrer's growing domains as a protectorate of Germany.

"As far as I am aware," Chamberlain said, "no written ultimatum was presented to Dr. Hacha prior to his acceptance of this agreement."

Viscount Halifax today accused Germany of "deliberately" provoking incidents to create an excuse for invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"Impossible to Believe." In a speech filled with angry words the Foreign Secretary virtually accused Germany of fomenting the secession of Slovakia from the Czechoslovak federation. He told the House of Lords: "I find it impossible to believe that the sudden decision of certain Slovak leaders to break off from Prague, which was followed so closely by their appeals for protection to the German Reich, was reached independently of outside influence."

He said he made the statement because it "is claimed that the German Government was entitled to intervene on receiving a request for assistance from the dismissed Slovak Premier."

Lord Halifax said he was "glad to say that the Rumanian Government itself denied a report" that German economic pressure on Bucharest "went so far as to speak of ultimatum."

He took a grave view nevertheless. "Even if there is no menace to Rumania today or even if that menace has not today developed, and may not develop on those lines," he said, "it is not surprising that the Government in Bucharest, like other governments, should view with the gravest misgivings happenings of these last few days."

Lord Halifax condemned Germany's action as "an arbitrary suppression of an independent, sovereign state by armed forces and by violation of what I must regard as the elementary rules of international conduct."

His statement was made after Lord Snell, the Labor peer, had opened debate in the Upper House with the charge that "there never was the least chance of converting the dictators of Europe into good Europeans."

Time Is Significant. In response, Lord Halifax declared Germany's action had been a "profound shock to all thinking people in this country and very far outside this country."

He stressed as "significant" that Germany's occupation of Bohemia and Moravia took place while the Czech President and Foreign Minister were traveling to Berlin "and before any discussion had taken place."

Referring bitterly to the manner in which terms of the German protectorate restricted Bohemian and Moravian autonomy, the Foreign Secretary said the situation was "summed up" by the fact that their "sovereign rights" now could be exercised only "in consonance with the political, military and economic importance of the Reich."

He continued: "It is not possible as yet fully to appraise the consequences of the German action."

"History records many attempts to impose domination on Europe but all those attempts have sooner or later terminated in disaster for those who made them and it has never, in the long run, proved possible to stamp out the spirit of free peoples."

The announcement that an economic mission would be sent to King Carol's country was made by Commons by Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade.

Chancellor of the Exchequer, at lunch after conferring with Lord Halifax.

In well-informed quarters it was said that Britain already had taken "precautionary measures in various directions" as a result of increasing international tension.

While these reports lacked confirmation from any official source, it was understood that the precautions included cancellation of leaves to certain army, navy and air force units.

Officers at the Portland naval base warned their men to be ready for any emergency.

The battleship Royal Oak of the home fleet was scheduled to sail from Portland today under sealed orders.

Pledge of Labor Support. Labor and liberal opposition leaders, meanwhile, were understood to have pledged support for the Government's new policy of resistance to any further Nazi move towards European domination.

The Cabinet met at 10:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m., St. Louis time) in the second emergency session in two days for urgent consideration of Prime Minister Chamberlain's new program of resistance to aggression.

A large crowd anxiously watched the famous front door at No. 10 Downing street as Chamberlain and his Ministers discussed the nation's new policy.

King George received Lord Halifax, the Foreign Minister, in audience in Buckingham Palace immediately before the Cabinet meeting.

Opposition Leader Clement R. Attlee, Laborite Arthur Greenwood and Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the opposition Liberals, were called while the Cabinet was in session.

Meanwhile Viscount Halifax, Rumanian Minister to London, was summoned to the Foreign Office and gave the Government the latest information on the German-Rumanian trade negotiations.

Polish Ambassador Count Edward Racynski also was called to the Foreign Office.

The Cabinet meeting broke up at 12:15 p. m.

Minister Tiley declared after visiting the Foreign Office: "I am very happy this morning."

He declined to state the reasons for his jubilation but some believed he may have gained a British pledge of some sort of support for Rumania if it resisted comprehensive economic demands by Germany.

King George VI was reported to have sent for Chamberlain for information on a personal appeal King Carol of Rumania was said to have made for support in case of German aggression against Rumania.

German economic pressure against Rumania led British ministers to meet constantly over the week-end.

Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador to Berlin, went to see Lord Halifax immediately upon his arrival yesterday from Germany.

The Cabinet took up Henderson's report. He was called from the German capital "to report" but the length of his stay here was regarded as indefinite.

At Dover, the envoy just missed crossing paths with Herbert von Dirksen, German Ambassador to London, who had been summoned to Berlin, also "to report."

The British press clamored for "action" to save Rumania from the Nazi economic camp and to be united, even to the extent of formal commitments, with Soviet Russia, France and other nations.

Ambassador Sir Howard William Kennard conferred with the Polish Foreign Minister, Col. Joseph Beck, in Warsaw.

President Albert Lebrun and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France are due to come to London tomorrow on a state visit. It will afford British officials an opportunity to discuss a joint French-British policy.

Assurance From Australia. From Sydney, Australia, Premier Joseph A. Lyons telephoned the assurance to Chamberlain that Britain could depend on Australians in any emergency.

Lyons called an urgent meeting of the Australian Cabinet for tomorrow.

"Although the situation is grave there is no need for panic," he said. Australian political leaders of all parties condemned Germany's action in Czechoslovakia.

The Secretary for Air, Sir Kingsley Wood, in an address last night said that Hitler's ambitions "may well bear bitter fruit and will certainly bring in the end retribution and retreat."

He added: "I believe we can go forward, whatever the future may be, with confidence, faith and hope."

"History shows there is in all nations, great and small, strong latent opposition to foreign domination. It has rarely been successful and it never lasts."

"We are a resolute nation—confident not only in our strength, but also in our will to see that right and justice prevail."

Danzig Celebrates Absorption of Czechs by Germany.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, March 20 (AP).—This Nazi-controlled "island" at the mouth of the Polish corridor celebrated yesterday the German absorption of most of Czechoslovakia with parades and Swastika decorations.

Marching groups of Danzig Nazis, ranging from straggling schoolboys to well-drilled adult formations in uniform, plodded through the streets festooned with Swastika flags. The Nazi emblem outnumbered by 40 to one the Danzig and Polish banners.

The celebrations were ordered by Nazi leaders.

A Danzig Government spokesman declared today that the Free City was waiting anxiously for reunion with Germany but "our best information is that the time has not come for such a step."

"We are not looking for any immediate change in our status," he said. "We must rely on Berlin to make the decision for us."

Other sources said return of Danzig to Germany, from which it was taken after the World War, would result from diplomatic negotiations.

British Overseas Secretary Gets Facts About Rumania.

WARSAW, March 20 (AP).—Robert S. Hudson, British Overseas Trade Secretary, had an opportunity today to get an appraisal of the situation in Rumania, where Germany seeks fuel and food for her expanding domain.

After being received at the Foreign Office by Foreign Minister Col. Joseph Beck, Hudson had a long talk with Miroslav Ariszewski, Acting Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs, and for many years Minister to Rumania. Ariszewski is considered an authority on Rumania.

Hudson arrived here yesterday on a trade tour of Northern Europe which includes visits to Moscow and other foreign capitals.

British Ambassador Consults With Sumner Welles.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, conferred with Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State, this afternoon.

He told reporters afterward he could give them no indication of the nature of the conversation.

Canada Ready to Enter Parleys With England Any Time.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 20 (Canadian Press).—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced today Canada was "prepared at any time" to enter into conferences with the British Government in the emergency.

Speaking in the House of Commons, he described Germany's action as "wanton and forceful" and without any defense in the terms of the Treaty of Versailles.

His announcement followed a cabinet meeting in which the situation was surveyed.

WOMAN RESCUED IN FIRE IN APARTMENT ON LINCOLN

Miss Lillian Neal, president of the F. C. Riddle Casket Co., was rescued by police and firemen after fire broke out in her apartment on the first floor at 4915 Lindell boulevard early yesterday.

Another tenant smelled smoke and telephoned an alarm. Firemen, who broke in the door of Miss Neal's apartment, reported they found her lying on the floor near the door. She was taken to City Hospital and returned home later.

The fire, of undetermined origin, caused $275 damage, firemen said.

FRANCE REPORTED READY TO ADD FORCES ON RHINE

Regional Mobilization Tended to Warn Germany to Keep Hands Off Rumania and Assure Charest.

PARIS, March 20 (AP).—French Government was reported today to have decided on regional mobilization along the Rhine frontier as a warning to Germany to keep hands off Rumania.

Political sources indicated the first use Premier Daladier would make of the dictatorial powers voted to him by Parliament yesterday would be an armed demonstration to Rumania that would not have to face German threats alone.

Political observers agreed that first plenary decrees, submitted President Albert Lebrun's signature today, would start the recall troops and would be designed to increase the French army's strength to nearly 1,000,000 men.

Daladier is reported to have called to the colors 125,000 special force troops from the last three classes which have completed their military service.

286-to-14 Vote in Senate. The Chamber of Deputies on Thursday and the Senate yesterday by a 286-to-14 vote—approved Daladier's demands for sweeping powers with which to match quick decisions of dictators. The only check on this power, unprecedented in peace-time France, is the approval that must be given by the Cabinet which he rules with an iron hand and by President Lebrun, who supports his tactics. The decrees continue until Nov. 30.

After the unusual Sunday State meeting, Daladier had a four-hour Cabinet meeting at which he outlined the first series of decrees to be submitted to the President at a Cabinet meeting in the evening at 5 p. m. and "put immediately into execution."

Paris diplomatic circles said Rumanian Government has formed London and Paris the being subjected to pressure to enter the German orbit.

With French-British help, Rumania is understood to have formed the two capitals that would resist. Otherwise it would have to give in.

Good Neighbor Pact Eliminated. Daladier told the Senators the French-German "good neighbor" treaty, signed after the Munich agreement last Sept. 29, had been wiped out by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's conquest of Czechoslovakia.

It was the first time the President had stated that the French-German agreement had been annulled.

France, Daladier declared, must strengthen its army, finances, economy and must be able to make strides with the dictators, promised to do all these things his decrees.

"We face a serious situation which may quickly become dramatic," the Premier said. "We face it with energy, resolution and courage."

Daladier recalled France's mobilization in the crisis last September when Germany took Sudetenland. He commented: "It is perhaps because France, in the Munich crisis, gave an example of love, peace to Europe and to the world that the Government is authorized today to say that France is in a trench which she cannot leave."

In view of the international situation a movement has been started in the Chamber of Deputies to ask Lebrun to retain the Presidency and to postpone the election of his successor "until events permit an election."

Parliamentary sources said former Premier Fernand Bouisson, Minister of Agriculture, H. Queuille, the only two who have announced their candidacies, would withdraw if Lebrun agreed to resign.

Consent Not in Service. The military measures were said to have been prepared for President Lebrun's signature, included retraining the conscripts scheduled to be released from service April 30; mobilization of "pompies," or the last two classes to have completed their training periods, and the individual recall of first-line reservists.

A special edition of the official journal was ordered printed today so that the parliamentary act conferring the dictatorial powers on rule France until Nov. 30 could be legalized at once. Laws do not take effect until after publication in the journal, which normally is printed on Mondays.

Both the Senate and the Chamber recessed yesterday until March 28 after the final vote on the decrees powers. The Chamber's vote on the proposal was 321 to 264.

Diplomatic Situation Acute. Political sources said the diplomatic situation was so acute that it was necessary that the decrees be submitted to Lebrun at once before the President leaves town with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet for a three-day state visit to England.

FRANCE REPORTED READY TO ADD TO FORCES ON RHINE

Regional Mobilization Intended to Warn Germany to Keep Hands Off Rumania and Assure Bucharest.

PARIS, March 20 (AP). — The French Government was reported today to have decided on regional mobilization along the Rhineland frontier as a warning to Germany to keep hands off Rumania.

Political sources indicated that the first use Premier Daladier would make of the dictatorial powers voted to him by Parliament yesterday would be an armed demonstration to Rumania that it would not have to face German threats alone.

Political observers agreed that the first plenary decrees, submitted for President Albert Lebrun's signature today, would start the recall of troops and would be designed to increase the French army's standing strength to nearly 1,000,000 men. Daladier is reported to have called to the colors 125,000 special fortress troops from the last three classes which have completed their military service.

286-to-14 Vote in Senate.

The Chamber of Deputies on Saturday and the Senate yesterday—by a 286-to-14 vote—approved Daladier's demands for sweeping powers with which to match quick decisions of dictators. The only check on this power, unprecedented in peacetime France, is the approval that must be given by the Cabinet, which he rules with an iron hand, and by President Lebrun, who supports his tactics. The decree powers continue until Nov. 30.

After the unusual Sunday Senate meeting, Daladier had a two-hour Cabinet meeting at which he outlined the first series of decrees to be submitted to the President at a Cabinet meeting in Elysee Palace at 5 p. m. and "put immediately into execution."

Paris diplomatic circles said the Rumanian Government has informed London and Paris that it is being subjected to pressure to fall into the German orbit.

With French-British help, Rumania is understood to have informed the two capitals that it would resist. Otherwise it would have to give in.

Good Neighbor Pact Eliminated.

Daladier told the Senators that the French-German "good neighbor" treaty, signed after the Munich agreement last Sept. 29, had been wiped out by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's conquest of Czechoslovakia.

It was the first time the Premier flatly had stated that the French-German agreement had been exchanged.

France, Daladier declared, must strengthen its army, finances and economy and must be able to match strides with the dictatorships. He promised to do all these things by his decrees.

"We face a serious situation which may quickly become dramatic," the Premier said. "We must face it with energy, resolution and courage."

Daladier recalled France's mobilization in the crisis last September when Germany took Sudetenland. He commented: "It is perhaps because France, in the Munich crisis, gave an example of love for peace to Europe and to the world that her chief of Government is authorized today to say that France is in a trench which she cannot leave."

In view of the international situation a movement has been started in the Chamber of Deputies to ask Lebrun to retain the Presidency and to postpone the April election of his successor "until events permit an election."

Parliamentary sources said former Premier Fernand Bouisson and Minister of Agriculture Henri Queuille, the only two who have announced their candidacies, would withdraw if Lebrun agreed to stay.

Conscripts Kept in Service.

The military measures which were said to have been prepared for President Lebrun's signature included retraining the conscripts scheduled to be released from service April 30; mobilization of "disables," or the last two classes to first-line reservists.

A special edition of the official journal was ordered printed today to transfer the dictatorial power to the President until Nov. 30 could be legalized at once. Laws do not take effect until after publication in the journal, which normally is not printed on Mondays.

Both the Senate and the Chamber recessed yesterday until March 23 after the final vote on the decree powers. The Chamber's vote on the proposal was 321 to 264.

Diplomatic Situation Acute.

Political sources said the diplomatic situation was so acute that it was necessary that the decrees be submitted to Lebrun at once in order that they could become law before the President leaves tomorrow with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet for a three-day state visit to England.

WOMAN RESCUED IN FIRE IN APARTMENT ON LINDELL

Miss Lillian Neal, president of the F. C. Riddle Casket Co., was rescued by police and firemen after fire broke out in her apartment on the first floor at 4915 Lindell boulevard early yesterday.

Another tenant smelled smoke and telephoned an alarm. Firemen, who broke in the door of Miss Neal's apartment, reported they found her lying on the floor near the door. She was taken to City Hospital and returned home later. The fire, of undetermined origin, caused $275 damage, firemen said.

GENERAL MO PART TWO OVER-COUNTER CODE BY SEC AND DEALERS

Proposed Fair Play Rules to Brokers for Comment and Criticism.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The Securities and Exchange Commission and the Investment Bankers Conference, Inc., after jointly yesterday a code of practice for over-the-counter stocks. The proposal for a National Securities Association, which will administer the code, was sent about 1600 security dealers for comment and criticism.

While the SEC and the bankers' committee agreed generally on the program, there were differences over the amount of power to be given the governing board of association.

The bankers' committee recommended that the board itself side on the duties and powers chief executive officer.

The commission, on the other hand, proposes that the power of the executive officer be defined the outset in whatever by-laws adopted.

Among the rules suggested prohibitions against unreasonable profits, manipulation and improper pledging or lending of a customer's securities.

To enforce the code, it was proposed that the board of governors have the power to fix fines up to $500 and suspend or expel members.

In Fatal Shooting

MRS. ARTHUR ENTEMAN.

ARTHUR ENTEMAN.

WIFE FIRES SHOT THROUGH HERSELF; IT KILLS HUSBAND

Maplewood Park (Ill.) Man Tries to Stop Her, and Is Fatally Wounded in Spine.

EXPECTANT MOTHER IN GRAVE CONDITION

Woman, Under Doctor's Care, Says She Didn't Want Her Illness to Be Burden Any Longer.

Arthur Enteman, a lumber yard foreman of Maplewood Park, south of East St. Louis, died last night of a wound of the abdomen, suffered Saturday night when his wife shot herself in the chest, in a suicide attempt, and the bullet passed through her body and entered his, lodging in the spine.

Mrs. Enteman, an expectant mother, is in a grave condition in St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, where the pair were taken after a neighbor, attracted by a shot Enteman fired through a window, found them lying on the bedroom floor of their newly-built five-room bungalow at 427 Jerome lane.

The neighbor, Mrs. Allen Poe, told police the Entemans' three children, Virginia, 6 years old; Ruth, 4, and Arthur Jr., 3, who had been sleeping in an adjoining room, were huddled at the door of their parents' room, crying, when she got there. Their mother was on the floor, semi-conscious, their father seated on the edge of the bed, groaning.

Husband Described Shooting. Enteman, 38 years old, gave police a brief account of the shooting before he died. He said they had retired and that his wife unexpectedly got out of bed, went to a chest of drawers and took out a .38-caliber revolver, which he said he did not know was in the house.

"When I saw what she was about, I jumped out of bed to take the gun away from her but she put it to her chest and fired," Enteman related. "We both fell. Then I crawled to the window with the gun and fired a shot to attract the neighbors' attention."

Physicians at the hospital said the wound in Mrs. Enteman's chest was powder-burned. The revolver, which police found on the bedroom floor, contained two discharged cartridges.

During a brief period of consciousness yesterday Mrs. Enteman corroborated her husband's account, adding that she had asked him to help her kill herself.

"I'm always sickly and no use to anyone," she told officers. "I wanted to kill myself and get out of my way."

Doctor Says She Was Ill. Enteman had declined to discuss the shooting until told of the seriousness of his wife's condition. Then he said: "If she dies I want to die, too," and related the circumstances.

The Enteman family physician told reporters Mrs. Enteman, who was 28, had been under his care for nervousness for several years and also underwent an operation about six months ago. The Entemans had been married eight years.

The children spent the remainder of Saturday night at the Poe home. Yesterday morning Enteman's sister, Mrs. Hasky Kent, wife of an East St. Louis policeman, took them to her home, 519 North Sixty-first street.

Enteman was employed at the East St. Louis yard of the Wiles-Chipman Lumber Co.

GRAIN MAN PLUNGES TO DEATH

Chicago Board of Trade Member Had Suffered Breakdown. CHICAGO, March 20 (AP).—Joseph C. Yore, 60 years old, a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, plunged to his death yesterday from a window of his room on the twelfth floor of a North Side hotel. The hotel clerk said Yore had appeared without baggage and had requested the highest room available. Later his body was found on the sidewalk. No notes were found. Yore's widow said her husband had suffered a nervous breakdown after an operation a year ago.

OWNERSHIP BY NEWSPAPERS OF RADIO STATIONS UP AGAIN

Federal Commission Orders Hearing on Allentown (Pa.) Case; Two Dissents.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The Federal Communications Commission ordered a hearing on an application for authority to merge two part-time, separately-owned Allentown (Pa.) radio stations into one full-time station, with the Chronicle & News Corporation, which publishes Allentown's two newspapers, holding a 65 per cent interest.

The commission ordered the hearing to "determine whether the granting of the application . . . would result in, or tend toward, a monopoly in Allentown and its immediate environs."

Commissioners T. A. M. Craven and Norman S. Case voted against the hearing. Craven issued a dissenting report saying that "if these applications are to be set for hearing on this issue, it can only be because a majority of the commission have already adopted in their own minds, or contemplate adopting as a result of these proceedings, a principle that ownership of broadcasting stations by newspaper publishers, or by certain kinds or classes thereof, is contrary to public interest."

THIRD DEATH IN SHOOTING

Man Shot by Son-in-Law, Who Killed Baby and Self.

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis., March 20 (AP).—August Baaken, 60 years old, died of a gunshot wound yesterday, the third fatality in what Coroner Martin Fromm said was murder and suicide by his son-in-law, Tony J. Trinka, 32, of Butler.

Trinka went to the Baaken farm Saturday seeking his estranged wife. There, Fromm said, he shot Baaken and killed his own son, Tony Jr., 2, and himself.

WATCHMAN KILLED ON FIRST NIGHT

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 20 (AP).—Fred Lange, 60 years old, was shot and killed by a robber last night, his first night as a watchman at a tavern in the southwestern part of town. Three prowlers had attempted to enter the place Saturday night, and Lange was hired yesterday by the owner.

WASHINGTON HOTEL STRIKE ENDS IN COMPROMISE

Union Men to Have Preference in Employment; New Workers Must Join Organization.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—An agreement ending the strike at 13 hotels here was reached yesterday. Pickets were withdrawn. John R. Steelman, Labor Department conciliation chief, said a formal agreement between the hotel managements and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' League (A. F. of L.) would be signed this afternoon.

The strikers had demanded what they termed a "union shop." Steelman said the settlement was a compromise providing that the hotels give preference to union members in hiring new employees, that new

HASKELL INDIANS TO PLAY ONLY PREP FOOTBALL IN FUTURE
LAWRENCE, Kan., March 20 (AP).—Haskell Indian Institute, once one of the mighty teams in football, bowed completely out of the big time today with official announcement that hereafter the school would meet only prep teams on the gridiron.

Recently the school took only young Indian boys and girls and gradually faded from football glory, playing only smaller colleges and junior colleges.

Today school officials said a survey showed the average age group of Haskell boys was 12.3 years, which placed them in the high school classification.

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 20 (AP).—Patty Berg, the national champion, fired a hot 75, seven under women's par, to take the lead today in the first round of the annual Mid-South golf tournament, a 54-hole medal play event over the Southern Pines Country Club course.

The Minneapolis star, who won the tournament last year, played a consistent game, turning in a 37-38, bettering by one stroke the 76 she made in a practice round yesterday.

Her only close competitor among the early finishers in a field of two score was Mrs. Estelle Lawson, of Chapel Hill, N.C., the 1937 national champion, who buckled down after a first round siege of putting trouble, and wound up with a 41-36-77.

Browns Not Worried Over Their Holdouts, Don Barnes Claims

By L. A. McMaster
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 20.—The Browns are not worrying about their two holdout infielders and it's up to the players, Shortstop Red Kress and Second-sacker Don Heffner, to come in.

President Don Barnes of the club, who arrived yesterday, stated the policy of the ownership and management in regard to the two players who are missing. Kress and Heffner are in California, working out at Hollywood, according to reports.

"Of course, they now have to do some training at their own expense," Barnes said, in reference to the middle bag combination of last year. "Under league rules, they have to train for 30 days before the season opens. They lose pay for as many days as they are late. Buck Newsom just got in under the deadline last Friday."

"I think now that Heffner and Kress are waiting to see Cleveland planning a trade. They read where Cy Slapnicka said there was a possibility of a trade with the Browns, and Heffner's name was mentioned. We have no trade on the fire. But I think those boys figured that if they were going to be traded, and to a first-division club, it would be good business to delay signing until they found out where they were going to play. They might figure they could get what they asked for from a first division club."

"We are not worried about them. We haven't asked them to come to camp, after sending their contracts to them. They aren't concerned about them. I am pretty well pleased with our set-up now. That was a fine game we won, 2-1, from the Phils."

And it was a fine game. It meant that the Browns will finish 1939 with at least a 500 mark against at least one major league club. The Browns have played six games, all against the Phils, and have won six straight. The clubs had 13 games scheduled originally, but Wednesday's game at New Braunfels has been canceled, so they are sure of at least an even break with the Phils on their spring engagements.

Yesterday it was Russ Van Atta and Johnny Marcum, the first of the older hurlers to go into exhibition competition, who collaborated in holding the Phils to a single run. Van Atta yielded one hit and no runs in four innings. Then Marcum took over and while being scored on once, held Prothro's team, directed by Coach Hans Lobert, to three hits. Both veterans looked good. Van Atta showed an assortment of curves. Marcum mixed slow curves, half-speed balls and fast ones, and while he didn't have such good control of his fast ball, his mixture fooled the Phils. Both pitchers who have been sore-arm bidders, members, said afterward that their arms felt fine. The Phils now have made only two runs against Brownie pitching in 27 innings.

Bernardine Back in Game.
Johnny Bernardine returned to second base duty after two days off and did not seem to be bothered by his injury.

No teams came very near the leading Schumachers' 3115.

Medwick Holdout Siege in 19th Day; Bredon Is Firm

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20.—The Medwick holdout siege today entered its nineteenth day without any signs of weakening on either side.

"I still won't sign for $17,500," the Cardinal outfielder insists. "Not a cent less than $20,000." Sam Bredon remained square-jawed and tight-lipped when asked about Medwick, but plainly indicated that he intended to fight it out on the same dotted line if it took all summer. He has offered Joe $17,500, a cut of $2500.

Medwick, his wife, infant son and the family maid are quartered at the Detroit Hotel, which also houses the baseball club.

Sam Bredon, who has a house on the beach, plans to return to St. Louis in a few days and Rickey, who had been at the headline last Friday.

George McQuinn made only one hit, a single to short. He was out once on a little pop fly that bounced off his bat when he was dodging an inside pitch.

The snappiest pitching of the six games was uncorked by Al Smith, the veteran southpaw from St. Louis, who pitched nine strikes to retire Marcum, Almada and Grace in order in the ninth.

Jim Walkup will take his delayed turn on the mound tomorrow and will share the chores with John Kramer in the seventh game with the Phils, scheduled at Austin.

A potential "brother act" for the Browns was split up today by the announcement that Woody Bell, brother of the slugging Beau Bell, had been sent to Brownsville to join the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League.

Shute and Stark Win Golf Event

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 20 (AP).—Bang-up partnership golf put $1000 in the pocket of Bill Shute and a trophy in hands of Stark when they routed the favorites from the national amateur-professional four ball tournament yesterday.

Shute, former British open and American P. G. A. champion from West Newton, Mass., and Stark, Jacksonville, Fla., insurance man, ousted Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich., and Chick Harbert of Detroit, Mich., 5 and 4 in the 36-hole finals.

SCHUTTE TAKES THIRD IN BOWLING SINGLES

George Schutte scored 733 to take third place in the St. Louis district handicap bowling tournament yesterday at Rogers Recreation. Stan Sutton still leads with 773.

Ray Jung and Frank Kastner rolled 1400 for second place in the doubles behind the leading Dietrich brothers, Leo and Edward, who have 1406.

No teams came very near the leading Schumachers' 3115.

COACHES EXPECT CLOSE RACE FOR SUBURBAN TITLE

A close race for the Suburban High School baseball championship is expected by the nine coaches, now preparing their teams. Each will have a number of lettermen returning for the season which begins April 3, when Normandy meets McBridge at the Vikings' diamond. The campaign runs through the month of May.

Coach Jim Major's Vikings, pennant winners last season and also champions of the Normandy tournament, were hardest hit by loss of regulars. Major will have only Vern Tracy, catcher, and Dick Connell and Paul Vocho, outfielders, as his returning lettermen. Several fine prospects are coming to the squad.

Coach Bob Geddes at Ritenour will be well fortified with veterans, three infielders, four outfielders, two pitchers and a catcher returning. In the infield, Reyborn Douglas, Ken Casper and Ray Grubbs will be back. Casper may also be used as a hurler. In the outfield, Mel Schaefer, Joe Knoll, Kearney Downing and Bill Munn will compete for the three starting assignments. Warren Kraeger will handle the catching, while Ken Olson and Ken Holbert will do the mound duty. Geddes also has a number of fine recruits.

Five lettermen reported to Coach Don Zoerb, at Clayton. In addition, three players who were first-line reserves a year ago, but who failed to make a letter, return. Heading the letter group will be Pitcher Dave Fullgraf, who hurled a pair of one-hit games last year.

Two Infielders Return.
Ken Wiles, third base, and Lee Brandenburger, at short, are the two lettermen who will try out for infield spots along with Marvin Gelber, reserve first sacker last year. In the outfield Zoerb will have letterman Jack Darnton and reserves Clarence Hackman and Vernon Landoff. Two other members of last year's squad who will compete for places are John Willis, an outfielder, and Melvin Schweig, second baseman. Chris Eppler, who has been confining his spring efforts to track, but who has played Muncie League baseball, will report to seek the first-base assignment.

Seven lettermen have returned to Coach Jerry Sigal at Wellston. Clarence Roach and Ken Johnson, infielders; Milton Serkes and Harold Seibert, catchers; Wallace Harsley, outfielder, and Henry Duwacht, pitcher, are the veterans.

Coach Kent Farley at University City will have six major lettermen and three minor letter winners around which to build his team. Lack of experienced pitchers and a batting punch will handicap the Indians. Farley lost his starting pitchers of last year, as Robert Roth, Mel Kranzberg and Ralph Perlestein all graduated. Sanford Wolfson will be the only hurler with any game experience. The lettermen are Harvey Levy, catcher; Bob Zwilling, catcher and outfielder; Ralph Hart, second baseman; Bill Cregan, third baseman; Louis Puellman, catcher and outfielder; and Sanford Wolfson, pitcher and outfielder. The minor award winners are Bill Cole, outfielder; Dick Stenecker, infielder, and Otto Becker, outfielder.

Some Let Veterans.
Coach Fog Gaines needs a first baseman and third baseman and one outfielder to round out the Webster nine. Ken Queveraux will be hurrying his third year for the Statesmen, while Ambrose Mueller, the outfielder and Ed Adams, second base, will also be playing their third season. Jim McKee, who will captain this year's team and play in the outfield, will be starting his fourth season. Reserves who will round out the squad are Tom Fielding, shortstop; Bill Barts, outfielder; Sig Langsam, who made the Muncie All-Star team last year; and Catcher Paul Brackman.

At Kirkwood, Coach McMann will have seven lettermen and a number of reserves, but will be short on infielders. Bob Tennant and Bill Howitt return to share the catching duty, while Frank Schulte will be back at first base. Don Nixon at second, and Vernon Harness at third. Two veteran outfielders will report in Marshall Edwards and Festus Bernade. Fred Wahn and Wally Cusinsky, a pair of reserve outfielders; Junior Sparling and Bud Potter, infielders, and Dick Heffelfinger, a hurler, will return from last season's squad. McMann indicated that he would try to convert several players to handle the pitching problem, probably sending Schulte and Cusinsky to the hill in addition to Harold Jenkins, who has re-entered school after missing two years.

Seven lettermen will compete in baseball at Maplewood. They are Bob Badden, John Marsh, Wilbur Doyle, Wally Deaver, Gene Deppner, Henry Webster and George Rudolph.

St. Charles will not have baseball this year, but will enter a team next year upon completion of its new athletic field.

DANDENICH WINS GYMNASIAC CONTEST
Carl Dandenich won the first-grade men's competition in the St. Louis Athletic Club's indoor apparatus meet at North St. Louis Turner Hall yesterday.

Ruth Brightfield won the first-grade women's division and Wanda Salmighi the second grade. William Schramm captured honors in the men's second-grade and Jack Stutz in the boys' section.

He was the first bowler in more than 6300 who have competed in the Tribune classic to roll a 300 game.

WRAVY'S COLUMN

A Red Hot Favorite.

EVIDENTLY the turf world believes that the winter book derby favorite, El Chico, will prove to be another Morvich, winner of the derby of 1922. Their cases are almost identical. Each won all his starts as a two-year-old. Each was made a 4 to 1 future book favorite without having raced during the winter.

Morvich justified his support by winning the Derby from cheap opposition—Bet Mosie and John Finn; and if El Chico wins next May he will beat a rather ordinary field, so far as can be judged at this time.

Opening at 6 to 1 in some centers and 4 in others, the books on the higher price quickly had to retreat and have since marked him down under pressure of wagers of considerable size.

"He'll remain at short odds as long as the bettors want to take the price," commented one commissioner. "Personally I think that until this horse shows something as a three-year-old he ought to be 8 or even 10 to 1. It's almost 4 to 1 that he won't get to the post through accidents of training, etc."

CHALLENGED. A juvenile that came to top form late last season, is getting a play and his odds were knocked down during the past week from 10 to 6 to 1. Here's a horse that can go a course purely on last year's form he deserves consideration.

Technician, winner of the Flamingo Stakes and apparently the best looking of the winter-raced three-year-olds, is one of three whose odds have remained steady at 10 to 1, the others being Bradley's Benefactor and Johnstown, another one that did well as a two-year-old. Xalapa, Open at 12 and Porter's Mite at 15 are the other short price candidates.

The longest odds laid against any Derby eligible is the 1000 to 1 against Worthy Matron, one of five fillies still remaining in the entries. The only other 1000 to 1 shot previously noted, Say Judge, was cut to 200 to 1 when a couple of chance takers backed him for small amounts.

His Daddy Was Famous.

A MILD NIBBLE in the Derby future book reveals that somebody is interested in a candidate named Equestrian. He has been backed from 100 down to 40 to 1.

Probably no stronger motive than that this horse is a son of the great Equipse is behind the activity. Well, Equipse helped balance many a bettor's budget—perhaps his son can do likewise.

What's Become of —

BARNEY PELTY, pitcher for the Browns more than a quarter of a century ago—remember him? Barney came from Farmington, Mo., and is still living there. For a time he ran a

Yep, It's Same Old Grapefruit League—the Browns Are Leading

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP).—It's the same old Grapefruit League they have down in the citrus belt, folks. You can tell by the fact that the St. Louis Browns, last year's champions, are setting the pace. After the 16 major league clubs have played 56 exhibition games the Browns are on top with six victories and no defeats.

The standings:

TEAM	W	L	Win %
Browns	6	0	1.000
Phillies	5	1	.833
Cubs	2	0	1.000
Senators	2	0	1.000
Dodgers	1	0	1.000
Cardinals	1	1	.500
Yankees	0	0	0.000
White Sox	0	0	0.000
Reds	0	0	0.000
Red Sox	0	0	0.000
Pirates	0	0	0.000
Braves	0	0	0.000
Phils	0	0	0.000

Fred Haney, the new manager of the St. Louis American League club, wasn't interested in getting such a fast start because he sensed an ominous connection between the Browns finishing first in the 1938 grapefruit grind and seventh in the American League. But playing the Philadelphia Phils every day, he has had no choice and is resigned to what he could keep on playing them all summer.

The Giants, who were bartering for power during the winter, have scored 53 runs in their five games and manager Bill Terry is so wreathed in smiles the baseball writers hardly recognize him. The fact that the Giants have been battling the Philadelphia Athletics and their own Jersey City farm hands hasn't subdued his enthusiasm.

The first 10 days of the exhibition season produced some showy baseball, including a half dozen extra-inning sessions, five shutouts and one no-hit extravaganza.

The no-hit job was the contribution of Whitney Moore and Rookie Gene Thompson of the Cincinnati Reds, who go in for that sort of thing (Johnny Vander Meer was in bed ill and couldn't handle the chore.) The Brooklyn Dodgers, always clumsy, nearly messed up the script when Pete Coscarart doubled, but he forgot to touch first and everything was all right.

There have been many excellent pitching performances. Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' speedster, made his first start yesterday and was credited with a victory over the Athletics. He gave one hit in three innings. The Athletics, in fact, got only two hits in the entire game.

The day before, however, the teams netted 24 hits and 31 runs between them. That's the way the grapefruit gladiators operate.

Oh, yes, the New York Yankees have won four games and lost four.

Win Federation Title.
The Federation Soccer League Division No. 1 title was won yesterday by the I. B. C.'s, who defeated the Trojans, 1-0, at Murphy Park. Sunday came off because of rain.

Joe Bonmarito scored the goal.

SCHUMACHER PLAZA ELEVEN ELIMINATED IN TITLE SERIES

Pastor's Goal Gives L. Year's Champions 10 Victory Over the T. Eleven.

By Dent McSkimming

Soccer is a game of football in which the prize goes to the team which scores the greater number of goals. If it were just a test of ball handling and good maneuvering in midfield, the winners yesterday's Municipal Association playoffs at Fairground Park would have been the schoolboy Plaza A and the young Tait club, but with goals were added up it was found that the Zeltman club was the first game of the doubleheader and the Schumachers the second.

A 3500 crowd in which 4397 paid the 25-cent admission checked in for the total of cash customers brought the total to 12,133. This is the best three-game total attracted by Muncie soccer since the season of 1932-33, another indication of the returning interest here.

By reason of their 1-0 victory over the Tait, the Schumachers of Garondet are sitting in the driver's seat with two victories and no defeats. The Plazas, suffering their second straight defeat with the Zeltmans of Sherman Park, scored a 2-0 shutout, are eliminated from the championship series. No Sunday the Zeltmans and Tait each having won a game and lost a game, come together in their own meeting of the series and the winner will oppose the Schumachers for the title.

Plaza Eleven Crippled.
The unexpected absence of the regular center forward, Tom Abnath, robbed the Plazas of much of their effectiveness as goal getters and despite several shifts the forward line they were pitifully weak on attack. The Zeltmans, with comparatively few opportunities, scored in the first half via Strattman's corner kick to Sam Coppias, and in the second half when Jim Bollam finished off a nice piece of work by Brockmeyer and Coppias. Abnath, the sent center forward, departed for St. Louis Saturday to report to the Cardinals' chain baseball training camp at Albany, Ga. He is a catcher. Manager Heggi had no capable substitute for this young man who led the Intermediate League in scoring and was second high to Bill Schuler for the season in goals.

The second half was a thrilling battle most of the way with the score in the first half. About minutes of the second period were when Bill Fogarty's well placed long pass reached Cent Forward Bill Schuler, who had good shot to Shinee's territory to draw a foul. He then drew a foul. Schuler to beat and he turned the ball neatly before shoving the ball to Shinee. He in turn sent a long ground pass to Pastor on the other side of the Tait penalty area and the veteran outside right slammed a low left-foot shot in the far corner of the goal.

Tait's Force the Play.
The Tait, in possession of the ball the greater part of the time forced seven corner kicks in the period as compared with three for the Schumachers; they hit the crossbar with shots, had Goalender H. Ducker hanging on the ropes, fullbacks and halfbacks running circles, truly a winning team every respect. The most important one—goals. Halfback Jim Jenden and every forward except Spil had a wide-open scoring chance and missed. Little Ed Girard, right halfback, took the corner kicks in the right side and poured it on the Schumacher defense, but Tony Martin, taking the corner kicks on the left, twice put the ball behind the goal, wasted.

Given few chances, Schuler also was just about all the Tait defense could handle. They gave him rough, afternoon, and there were several tough fights. But the Tait were largely successful in midfield. He still had a fullback, Ed Fogarty, who had the ball. He is the Schumachers' playmaker and keeping him strictly on the defensive the Tait robbed the goal of its attacking power.

Fox Plays in Goal.
Ed Fox gave a courageous performance, though somewhat tragic show, tending goal for the Zeltmans. He filled the place usually occupied by Leonard Hartman who took him suddenly to Chicago. Fox, today injured to play his usual fullback position, tried his hand at goal and came off with some sensational saves, some of the unexpected variety.

Out of the goodness of their hearts the referees yesterday and in other previous games permitted long and frequent stoppages because of injuries to players. That is sort of writing the soccer rules to suit injured players. Explicit instructions are given to the referees to continue without interruption. No matter what the referees may think about it, the rules are no written and these frequent long delays for the benefit of soft-muscled boys who can't take a bump without calling for time out are not in the best interests of the game. The program each Sunday is long enough without avoidable delays.

A strong wind tended to spoil the games, although it was

BORAH CALLS FOR EARLY SHOWDOWN ON WAGNER ACT

Senator Not Committed to Any Revision, but Wants Labor and Business
Given a Hearing.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—A movement in the Senate Labor Committee for a showdown at this session on the question of changing the labor relations law received support today from Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho).

Borah said yesterday he was not committed to any change, but thought labor leaders and business men should be given opportunity to outline their objections to operation of the law.

The labor committee will meet tomorrow to consider setting a date for hearings on proposed amendments.

The administration is reported to be opposed to any revision of the law at this session, and Senator Thomas (Dem., Utah), labor committee chairman, has taken the position that hearings at present might hamper A. F. of L.-CIO peace negotiations.

Majority for Early Hearings.

There are indications, however, that a majority of the committee has become convinced not only that early hearings should be held, but that some changes should be made in the act. Several members expressed the opinion privately that there was little likelihood of an early agreement between the A. F. of L. and CIO, adding that to put off hearings much longer might preclude action in this session on the proposed amendments.

As evidence of the deep-seated disagreement that still exists between the two labor factions, these members cited the statement Saturday of John P. Frey, president of the Metal Trades Department of the A. F. of L., attacking a peace proposal submitted by John L. Lewis, head of the CIO. Frey said Lewis' proposal that the A. F. of L. and CIO and Railroad Brotherhoods hold a convention to form a national labor federation was in substance a suggestion made by the Communist party two years ago.

A. F. of L. Urges Revision of Law.

Among amendments pending before the Labor Committee are several incorporating changes that the A. F. of L. has recommended "to be made in the labor law." In general these would give employers as well as employees a statutory right to invoke services of the Labor Board in disputes, would curtail the Labor Board's broad discretionary powers and would widen the avenue of appeals to courts.

The A. F. of L. also has proposed an increase from three to five in the membership of the Labor Board.

Also pending before the committee are several more drastic changes proposed by Senator Burke (Dem., Nebraska). Burke has said that revision of the Labor Act would go a long way toward implementing the administration's current business encouragement program.

U. S. REJECTS PLASTIC PLANES

THAT CAN BE BUILT TODAY

Army Far From Optimistic About Immediate Prospects of Aircraft.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The army is still in search of means to pour airplanes like concrete instead of putting them together laboriously with rivets. Proposals submitted by aircraft and other manufacturers who have been experimenting with promising plastic materials failed to meet Air Corps requirements, it was learned authoritatively today.

No contracts have been let to develop a basic training plane constructed of the revolutionary new materials which Major-General Henry H. Arnold, Air Corps chief, told Congress the army sought in inviting the proposals last December.

CASTING about eagerly for shortcuts in turning out the thousands of additional planes the Senate and House have authorized for the nation's expanding air force, army experts are privately far from optimistic over the immediate promise of plastic as some civilian champions of the material.

MAN ACCUSED OF USING PISTOL TO SEEK REFUND

Anthony Correnti Denies Threatening Auto Salesman in Demanding $50.

Anthony Correnti, 1216 South Boyle avenue, is being held by police on the complaint of Clinton H. Morris, an automobile salesman, that he threatened Morris with a pistol and demanded $50.

Correnti told police he had asked Morris for $50 because his brother, Joseph Correnti, was overcharged that amount in the purchase of an automobile last December. He denied making any threat and said he had "never had a gun in my life."

Morris' account of the conversation was that Anthony Correnti visited the Freund Motor Co., 3806 South Kingshighway, where Morris is employed, last Friday night, and asked him to walk across the street to a truck to discuss "some business."

Threatened With "Bide," He Says.

When they arrived at the truck, Morris said, Correnti pulled him in to the cab, pointed a pistol at him, and said: "You sold my brother an automobile and now I want $50 from you or I'll take you for a one-way ride."

Morris said he did not have that much money, he reported, and Correnti said, "You get the $50 and I'll be back." Correnti then drove away with a companion who had been standing nearby not taking part in the conversation, Morris said.

This companion also was questioned, but released after he said he had not overheard the conversation and did not know what was being discussed. He told police he had not seen a pistol.

Under Bond on U. S. Charge.

Correnti, 25 years old, was booked on suspicion of attempted robbery in the third degree. Police said he told them he is under $3000 bond on a Federal charge of violating the alcohol tax laws.

Morris, who lives at 4446 Russell boulevard, said he had received no complaint from Joseph Correnti about the automobile sale last December. The automobile, driven by Joseph Correnti, collided with another machine at Michigan and Holly Hills avenues early yesterday and had to be towed away for repairs.

STRIKE TIES UP NEARLY ALL TRUCKS IN RHODE ISLAND

3000 Drivers Out—Perishables, Hospital Supplies and Beer Allowed to Move.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 20 (AP).—Freight trucking, with few exceptions, was virtually halted in Rhode Island today as 3000 truck drivers struck for higher wages after the breakdown of negotiations for a new contract for 10,000 drivers in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Union leaders said the calling of a strike in Rhode Island while withholding action in the other states, was a "strategic move." The union announced it would permit movement of perishables and hospital supplies and the hauling of freight by the Seaboard Freight Lines, which signed the new wage agreement with the Truck Drivers' Chauffeurs' and Helpers' Union for the 1200 men on its 300 trucks. The strike did not affect local delivery trucks or the hauling of beer which is not permitted on a contract basis in Rhode Island.

Percy F. Arnold, president of the Commercial Haulers of Rhode Island, organization of 50 operators employing 1200 men in the State, announced they would fight the strike.

Joseph S. Prior, president of the Providence local of the truck drivers' union, said the strikers wanted wage increases averaging 9 cents an hour.

LEGION POSTS TO OPEN RECONDITIONING PLANT

Expect to Give 100 Jobs—To Handle Old Clothing and Household Articles.

A plan to provide employment for 100 or more needy World War veterans at reconditioning and selling castoff clothing and household articles will be set up to effect soon by American Legion posts of the St. Louis area.

As a preliminary step, an organization under the name "The American Legion Employment Industries" has been formed, under the direction of a board of 23 Legion and Auxiliary members, with Charles T. Burgess, Service Officer of Post No. 172, as chairman.

A factory is to be set up in an old building near the St. Louis levee, where the veterans, widows or breadwinners from veterans' families, will be given jobs collecting the articles, working them over and selling them in salesrooms.

Employment will not be restricted to legionnaires. Wages from 30 cents an hour up will be paid the employees.

To obtain castoff articles, thousands of large paper bags are to be distributed to about 12,000 families.

Series of furniture will be accepted as well as bottles, rags and paper.

Trucks to collect contributions will be sent in response to telephone calls.

Reconditioned garments, stoves, bed clothing and other products of the factory will be furnished to needy veterans' families. An employment agency will be set up to place employees on jobs in private industry.

Post service officers will select the employees, giving preference to the most destitute and the physically incapacitated. Initial capital, $5000, has come from loans from Legion posts.

'VOLGA BOATMAN' SHOWN

AT THE SCREENING ROOM

French Film, With Pierre Blan-

char and Vera Korene, Tells Fa-amiliar Kind of Story.

"The Volga Boatman," French film which opened at the Screening Room, 3143 Olive street, last night as the fourth of a current series of foreign and unusual pictures, is probably the least distinguished of the group.

Its story of the gallantry of a Russian army officer who goes to prison rather than reveal his love affair with the Colonel's wife is a much-used one, in American pictures at least, and the unraveling of the plot has few dramatic thrills.

The chief value of the film is in its reproduction of Russian life in the old days before the Revolution, in the realism of river scenes and in the performances of Pierre

Blanchar, Vera Korene and others.

Musical numbers are a part of the show and the traditional "Song of the Volga Boatman" is heard, but not too insistently. The film will be shown twice each night through Wednesday.

'GERMAN POLICY' BASED ON FORCE

Former Czech President Declares What Is Considered Peace in Europe Is Illusion.

Hitler, He States, Keeps No Promise, Shows No Tolerance, Has Pretend for All Crimes.

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP).—Dr. Eduard Benes, former President of Czechoslovakia, speaking on the dismemberment of his native country, told the American people yesterday that "with the subjugation of Czechoslovakia, freedom is being guillotined."

At the same time he appealed to the American people "not to permit such conceptions and ideas as are now trying to dominate Europe to be tolerated in this free country."

Dr. Benes, now a lecturer at the University of Chicago, spoke at the school's Sunday roundtable, and his address was broadcast by radio. "In the approaching battle for the sword, the United States," he declared, "has a very great role to play. Be ready for that conflict and be strong—oh, people of democracy."

Not Self-Determination. Asserting that Czechoslovakia had been destroyed by a "dictatorial regime," Dr. Benes said: "Don't believe that it was a question of self-determination for a minority. From the beginning it has been a battle for the existence of the state. A dictatorship cannot tolerate freedom. A dictatorship can permit no liberty, no freedom, no democracy in its vicinity. It was and is and will be a battle for existence by a free nation opposed by a totalitarian state which denies freedom. The latest move of the German dictatorship in the occupation of Czechoslovakia proves it."

"This last tragic event must now finally open the eyes of the whole world to the fact that the Czechoslovak nation was from its beginning condemned by the dictators. With the subjugation of Czechoslovakia, freedom is being guillotined. And nobody in the United States or in the world should forget that the regime which is now attempting to kill freedom in Czechoslovakia is based on these three groups of conceptions: "First of all, the regime does not recognize any obligations unless it is expedient for it to do so; and it will fulfill no promise; it will respect no law; it will keep no pledge; it will not tolerate, either politically or religiously; it will admit no right to property either of state or of individuals unless it considers it expedient to do so. And for every crime against human decency it will always discover a pretext."

"Second, the only principle on which this regime is based is the rule of force and violence. This regime can maintain no respect for the idea of right. It preaches that the only right is might—force and violence. If you look back through the pages of Czech history you will find that this is the system which was always termed the age of barbarism. Today it would rule the world as the age of brute force."

"The third basis of this regime is the simple use of the old slogan, 'the end justifies the means.' And in their minds that end is only one thing only—the success of their rule of brute force, which is combined with the propaganda of lies which they have elaborated both internally and internationally as a weapon, and as most important factor in maintaining this regime, and deceiving the world as to their real intent. This whole theory has been made into a state system, a system which today undertakes to subjugate Czechoslovakia, a system which has begun to rule throughout my country and which tomorrow will extend its terrorism still further."

"Today There Is No Peace." "For 20 years I have worked for peace, for real peace. But today there is no peace in Europe. What is considered a state of peace is but a terrible illusion, an illusion which will one day take its toll in the enormous sacrifice of all the nations of the world. Because there was already! Yes, there was war in Europe; but there was war on one side only, and while one party makes war, the other can merely look on."

FRANCE REQUESTS FOR PEACE TALKS

Spanish Nationalist Leader Insists on Unconditional Surrender by Republican Government's Forces.

HENDAYE, France, March 20 (AP).—Spanish Nationalists have rejected the Republican Government's request for an "honorable peace" and are insisting on Madrid's unconditional surrender in the civil war.

Dispatches today from Burgos, Nationalist Generalissimo Francisco Franco's capital, said that his answer to an offer to open peace negotiations, broadcast by the Madrid Defense Council, was "surround."

The official broadcasting station at Burgos declared: "Our leader has prepared an army which will carry to the last village of Spain the only honorable peace, the peace of arms. 'That is the only means of making certain that the war will not flare up again.'"

WPA TO DISCHARGE 400,000 UNLESS IT GETS MORE FUNDS

State Administrators Get Quotas for Cuts, Effective April 3—Missouri's Reduction, 17,500.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The WPA informed its state administrators today that they would have to drop 400,000 persons from work relief during the week beginning April 3 unless Congress appropriated additional funds before then.

Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA Administrator, made public a State-by-State list of the reductions he said would have to be made in the rolls if Congress failed to act.

Harrington's list of reduction in employees by states includes: Missouri, 17,500, and Illinois, 34,000.

The list was issued while President Roosevelt was trying to obtain an additional appropriation of $150,000,000 to carry on work relief to July 1. His request for this sum was refused earlier this session.

In a letter to State WPA administrators, Harrington mentioned that the additional appropriation was before the House Appropriations Committee. Pending action on it, he said, it was necessary to plan operation of the work program for April on a basis of funds actually available.

Plan for Reduction.

If the reduction becomes necessary, he said, it should be accomplished by these methods:

1. Reducing employment on projects where this would not affect efficiency seriously.

2. Discontinuing "least desirable" projects at the completion of work on useful units.

3. Discontinuing projects on which Federal contributions to labor costs were unusually high.

4. "Possibly" discontinuing WPA work in areas where projects were so few or small that administrative costs were excessive.

5. Discontinuing projects on which "excessive" Federal funds were necessary for the transportation of workers to and from their jobs.

Workers' Alliance Lobby.

Another development was an announcement by David Lasser, president of the Workers' Alliance of America, that 100 delegates from Southern units of his organization had arrived here to urge congressional approval of President Roosevelt's request for additional WPA money.

He said this group would appeal particularly to Congressmen from the South.

Lasser said the alliance, an organization of WPA employees and the unemployed, was printing 3,000,000 ballots for a poll of all WPA workers in the United States on another job march on Washington. The ballots would be sent out simultaneously, he added, with WPA orders to cut the work relief rolls.

The CIO appealed to all members of Congress yesterday to restore the $150,000,000 cut from the original requested appropriation for relief.

In a letter signed by James B. Carey, chairman of the CIO unemployment committee, the organization said it was "hard to conceive of the cutting of such an amount from any other of the non-administrative Federal expenditures which would wreak so much havoc on the country."

Reduction in Five-State Midwest Region Set at 119,000.

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP).—Regional Director Bruce Uthus announced today that 119,000 WPA workers would have to be taken off the rolls in the five-State region No. 4 beginning April 3 unless Congress appropriated more funds.

Uthus called the State administrators of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Missouri into conference on receipt of instructions concerning the cuts from Washington.

Uthus, heading the country's largest employment region, said the regional total WPA employment now was 801,500. The 119,000 cut would leave the April quota at $22,500.

He said the five states' situation was:

Illinois—Present employment, 229,000; reduction, 34,000; April quota, 195,000.

Indiana—Present, $5,500; reduction, 11,000; April, 74,500.

Michigan—Present, 138,000; reduction, 20,000; April, 118,000.

Missouri—Present, 102,500; reduction, 17,500; April, 85,000.

Ohio—Present, 245,500; reduction, 36,500; April, 209,000.

Uthus said the April cuts would be in addition to the 20,500 aliens who have been removed from the regional rolls in recent weeks and a trimming of slightly more than one per cent resulting from a review now in progress as to the actual needs of WPA workers.

The State administrators conferring today with Uthus were: Illinois, Charles E. Miner; Indiana, John K. Jennings; Michigan, Abner Larned; Missouri, Matthew S. Murray; and Ohio, Dr. Carl Watson.

Uthus said the regional and State officials were going on the assumption the reductions would have to be made and were, therefore, ironing out individual State problems concerned with carrying them out.

MANCHOUKUO POST CAPTURED BY 300 BANDITS AFTER BATTLE

22 Killed in Fight, 23 Defenders of Forest Headquarters Kidnaped by Attackers.

TOKYO, March 20 (AP).—A Communist-bandit uprising in Kirin Province, Central Manchoukuo, was reported today in a Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch from Hainking.

Three hundred bandits were said to have attacked and captured the headquarters of Manchoukuo forest guards near Huatien in Southeastern Kirin. Six Manchoukuoans were said to have been killed and 23 kidnaped.

Leaving 16 of their number dead, the bandits were said to have fled with provisions and other loot. Manchoukuo authorities organized a punitive expedition.

Another Domei dispatch, from Harbin, reported that Soviet troops twice crossed the Russian-Manchoukuo frontier over the weekend, but were repulsed by Manchoukuo border guards.

GAYDA SAYS ITALY EXPECTS WAR AND WON'T BE NEUTRAL

Mussolini's Mouthpiece Tells French Their Insults 'Will Be Returned on Point of Bayonets.'

ROME, March 20 (AP).—Authoritative Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, asserted today that French insults to Italy, which Italians would carry "on the points of their bayonets," prevented any attempt at French rapprochement with Rome.

Who in France could hope to keep Italy out of "the great contest which is being prepared" when insults aimed at the Italian army are being published in France? Gayda asked.

Gayda cited a long list of satirical cartoons and quotations from the French press.

His editorial today in Il Giornale D'Italia followed reports from Paris that some French political figures and newspapers were recommending settlement of their differences with Italy.

"Italy is firmly within the (Rome-Berlin) axis in spirit and in arms," Gayda said. "Italy is not hurrying to war by way of a program, but she does not fear it. Rather she expects it."

"Above all, she is champing at the bit and is anxious to meet with these dirty champions on the other side of the barricade who are raising their voices from the liquor shops of Paris after having counted on paper millions of men and thousands of guns with which Great Britain, the United States and probably Russia seem to assure the defenses of their country."

"Let these champions know their dirty words will be remembered and carried as gay banners on the points of bayonets for a day of reckoning."

Says Italy Can Wait.

Gayda drove home yesterday the view that Italy could wait for the advantage it expects to get from Germany's absorption of most of Czechoslovakia.

"The story is not finished," he wrote in La Voce d'Italia in referring to "the shopkeeping spirit" of Britain and France. He apparently had in mind questions in the British and French press as to what benefits Italy derived from her axis partner's advance.

He warned that Germany's growing strength was restoring the European balance of power upset by the Treaty of Versailles and said "it is popular to save for the future the reckoning of Italian advantages from the (Rome-Berlin) axis."

He charged that France "opposes solid warlike intransigence to Italian calls for honesty."

Without directly inviting France and Britain to make offers, he concluded:

"Italians have good memories."

No real advantage has been assured their interests by the traditional friendship-alliance offered to Great Britain and sacrifices of blood and repeated demonstrations of good will offered to France.

"The Italian balance from this side therefore is entirely a debit. Vainly, up to now, have the Italians waited for it to show a credit."

Gayda cited France's loss of a military ally as the outstanding effect of Germany's absorption of most of Czechoslovakia.

He said Chancellor Hitler had upped French efforts to realign Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland and Rumania in a bloc with France and Britain against Germany.

Gayda repeated charges that France, Britain and the United States were arming to attack Italy and Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.

THE commingled fragrance of warm popcorn and thousands of blossoming hyacinths floats gently over Treasure Island these hot spring days.

Thus do the practical and the romantic happily combine to make of San Francisco's World Fair, "the Pageant of the Pacific," a pleasant, picturesque world of today that is half fact, half fantasy. It is easy to believe in this world of today revamped a little nearer the heart's desire.

When one's feet hurt—and where is the superman whose feet have never hurt him at a World's Fair?—there are "foot relief" stations scattered at strategic points throughout the 400 acres of Treasure Island. But while his aching legs are tenderly cared for by experts, the purring patient can feast his soul by lifting up his eyes to the tower of the sun, rising 400 feet above the fantastically lovely Court of Honor and surrounded by a Phoenix 22 feet high and covered with $2200 worth of gold leaf. Or he can gaze upon the infinite height and grace of a Hindu-Javanese temple, the imaginative strength of color of the Federal Building, or the Towers of the East in the temple compound.

AS HIS FEET are soothed into forgetfulness of the miles they have trod and as the cash customer rests his dazzled gaze on the Never Never Court of the Moon, his ears are assaulted by a great tumult in the heavens, and he throws his head back, the better to see a gigantic silver clipper ship either coming home to the port of the trade winds, as the Treasure Island clipper base is so imaginatively christened, or taking off for its long flight across the Pacific on a journey that makes next-door neighbors of once strange, far-off lands.

As World's Fairs go, "the Pageant of the Pacific" is large enough to exhaust but not completely undermine the physical stamina of the visiting firemen. It's a compact exhibition, primarily for nations bordering on the Pacific. Thus only a few European nations, France, Italy and Norway among 'em, are represented.

This fair okays the mystic east of the Orient, but has no truck with the effete east which lies beyond the Mississippi. Illinois is the sole exception, and she got in under the wire when no one was looking. The same applies to Missouri, since she is not strictly a Western State in the eyes of covered wagon descendants, who regard Missouri as way back East.

THE EXHIBITS of the 11 Western states, California, Washington, Idaho, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming and Oregon are housed in one building, the Hall of the Western States. Of course, the State of California, which is sometimes also called a state of mind, has a fine assortment of buildings of her own.

The night light of the fair is extraordinary. Looking down upon Treasure Island from Telegraph Hill in San Francisco, it has all the white, flashing radiance of a square-cut diamond pendant hung midway on a thin strand of platinum that is the new bay bridge, which connects this city and Oakland across the bay.

If it is a joy to see the island from afar at night, it is amazing to be on the island and wander from one beautifully illuminated court and building to another even more delightful. Night is like an enchanted garden, with its innumerable fountains and its soft, eerie blue illumination.

THE pay-off in this life is based largely on your experience. If you are seeking a job, be sure that you irradiate maturity and self-reliance, for you'll get a bigger salary than if you look childish, or incapable of bossing others.

there must be something wrong with me. How can I get a job?"

DIAGNOSIS: Thousands of young men and women fail to procure employment because they don't dress like mature adults. They appear kiddish or collegiate. And business men aren't interested in conducting nursery schools! They want competent, self-reliant employees. Their first impression of the applicant is obviously a visual one.

How do you look? Like a mature individual who can direct three or four other workers and take over minor executive duties? Or do you stutter and blush, or fidget from one foot to the other like a high school freshman? When young people seek employment, their youth is often a handicap, for it suggests lack of experience. Young men should studiously avoid fashions and fabrics that reduce their apparent age. They should, therefore, avoid sideburns and spats. Nor should they let their hair grow long until they look like would-be artists. They can profitably wear hats, too, for older men almost invariably are so dressed.

MATURE MEN also wear supporters for their socks. It may seem collegiate to run around hatless and with dangling socks, but it doesn't look business-like, and your first impression on the prospective employer may decide the issue. Flashy clothes, loud neckties and checkered suits may be all right on race track bookies and touts, but not on solid business men.

Young women should avoid frills and party frocks, for such things also indicate lack of business experience. They are considered the mark of an amateur. Red fingernails and other extreme decorations also detract.

Your beginning salary will depend in part upon how old you look. Let us suppose that you are exactly 21 years of age. If, however, you look and act like an 18-year-old, maybe you'll land a job at $12.50 to $15 per week. If you actually look to be 21, then you may start at $17.50. And if you are only 21 but appear to be as mature and poised as a 25-year-old, then you stand a good chance of drawing $20 or more as an opening salary.

How can you appear older? By the methods already outlined, plus the adoption of dark clothes. Light fabrics suggest youthfulness. Since young people may already be too youthful looking, they need to adopt older apparel and habits.

The Making of Rules for Child Means Trouble

It Is Better to Be Free of Regulations When Punishment Is Necessary.

By Angelo Patri

KATY is six. Her mother was never taught about the nature of children. She knows only what she experienced, and she was brought up by a hard aunt who had children of her own and was obliged to earn a living for all of the brood. Her aunt's method of discipline was a short cut to peace. "You do this and I'll do that to you." Now that Katy has to be reared her mother follows the old pattern. Maybe she gets a certain satisfaction out of it for the days she suffered under the harsh rule of eye for eye.

"Did you spill that water? Go get a rag. Wipe it up. Now come here and get your smacks. Three smacks for spilling water. Now you sit on that chair until dinner time." "O, you forgot to shut the door, did you? Well, I'll give you something to help your memory. Five strokes with the switch will help you to remember that doors have hinges."

Now Katy has become a thorn in her mother's flesh. She thinks up things to do that provoke her mother—the more destructive the better—and she does not mind the minute. Punishment has become a game between her and her mother. But mother has wearied of it and wants a way out. She says Katy is bad, plain bad. No child would torment its own mother as she does if she weren't plain bad. She forgets that she started the game and enjoyed it until it began going against her.

There is always the danger of this sort when discipline becomes a game. Making of rules is the making of trouble always. It is a great mistake to lay down a rule and set a punishment because the conditions of the act are never twice the same. That means the punishment does not fit. Better treat each emergency as it arises. Better be free of rules and regulations regarding a child's behavior so that one is free to act with what wisdom one can muster.

Household rules should be general. It is better to hold that good manners are a family characteristic, something expected of everyone, than to set the rule "Any child who interrupts another person when he is talking has to be silenced for the half day and stay in his room one hour." The interruption might be necessary, or it might be excusable. Leave room for interpretation of the situation always. And don't tempt children to dramatic infringements of ordinary discipline by fixing penalties. The same principle holds in school management. It is a mistake to announce laws and penalties. "Any pupil found writing on the walls," etc., is a direct invitation to the pupil who loves nothing better than a contest with the authorities. All he needs is a suggestion and he starts to work. Then he hunts for energy and energy is wasted on hunting for energy. And if he found, what of it? Better take cleanliness and the care of the building for granted and attend to any offense against them when it comes.

It's enough of a struggle for one

But Before You Do, Consider the Children—And How Do You Know a Second Husband Will Be Less Annoying Than the One You Now Have?

By Frances Slade

This is the second of a series of articles from Frances Slade's book, "Divorce—If You Must."

CHAPTER TWO.

COUNT any children before you let yourself dream of becoming "free." The most sensible woman on record is the one who married her husband, before she married him, that she would leave any and all children behind, for him to bring up if he ever gave her cause for divorce.

P. S.—He never did. But in most cases it is the man who walks out of marriage, leaving behind him the lion's share of the furniture and all the day-to-day responsibility for any children that have been brought into the world. So the divorced mother wakes the morning after the divorce proceedings knowing she is out of her marriage, that her children are in the next room, and wondering what this freedom she was promising herself is going to amount to.

From the day you leave your husband, you have to be all things to your children at all moments of the day or night, and they'll expect everything of you that Daddy and Mommy combined used to give them. While a married mother has Father, dead or alive, in the background to be evoked when needed, you can't even take your husband's name in vain to back up your discipline—that ghost has been laid forever.

And, after you've been used to having a husband to take half the blame for your scoldings, it's hard to save your own face when you've been somewhat unreasonable about what you would or wouldn't let the children do. Moreover, your children will return from their periodic visits to their father with lurid tales of how much nicer his home is than yours, how he took them to the movies every day, and how he never gets cross or tired.

If you think you can meet the difficulties of finance and loneliness after divorce by going back to your parents' home to live, remember you'll also have to go back to the childish role you'll always hold in your parents' minds.

Your father and mother will never think of you as a fully mature individual, even if you have lived through situations they were never called on to face.

Besides, if you let them pay part of your expenses, you'll have to allow them some say in the matter of a new hat or a trip to Bermuda. They can't be expected to welcome you to their hearts without making you their conversation and your coiffure.

Your father may insist on his prerogative to make it completely uncomfortable for you to see any man he takes a dislike to, or your mother may order you entirely to make over your conversation and your coiffure.

If you have children, grandparent trouble is apt to ensue. It's enough of a struggle for one being, and your supporters must have adequate arguments to prove that you were blameless and your husband completely in the wrong.

Your family must have some excuse for backing you up in a divorce, after having launched you into your marriage with their best wishes and as elaborate a wedding as they could afford. Your friends can't be expected to hold your hand as you go through the divorce, neither would they dream of taking sides with you in the negotiations, for your divorce—unless you can give them some reason for doing so—sounds at least plausible.

And you yourself will be glad of a definite complaint to use in explanations and complaints. However, don't get confused between what justifies a divorce in the eyes of the world and what will justify one in your own eyes, after you have it. You can leave a husband because he never knows when he's had enough to drink and won't stop for long enough to find out; and even a Judge will say you had a right to do it.

But what good will it do you to be in the right about leaving your husband, if you go on loving him?

YOU have to live with your emotions, as well as your reasons, after a divorce; and you must remember that emotions are often far from reasonable. It is quite common, for instance, to think you don't want something you have, and to wish you had it back after you've given it up.

If your husband is still there, you're still fairly sure he'll go on being there—if you want him. But if you divorce him, it may be another story.

When he's not there to get furious at, or have a nervous breakdown over, his faults may entirely fade out of the picture and his virtues appear all the more virtuous because you can no longer take them for granted.

You may even begin to think of him as most romantic because he always kissed you when he met you on the street, or never forgot to tell you a new hat was becoming.

Divorce can easily turn a rather irritating husband into a longed-for lover.

Tomorrow: Some questions to ask yourself.

Many Millions in U. S. Infected With Trichinae

Disease Is Usually Caused by Eating Uncooked Meat, Says Doctor.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE United States Public Health Service made an astonishing statement when it said that there are 16,000,000 people in the United States infected with trichinae.

This disease is due to the entrance into the body of a small worm, the trichinella spiralis. The entrance is made through the digestive canal; the trichinella enters imbedded in food. The food most frequently responsible is the flesh of pigs but beef can also be responsible.

In all animals, after the worm enters the intestine it makes its way through the blood stream to the muscles and there coils up. It is the presence of the worms in the muscles which causes the principal symptoms of the disease—pain, muscular stiffness, etc. For a while they may move freely through the body, but in the course of time they become encysted and lineally are laid down around the cyst and further development ceases. This process takes about five months in the hog it may be deferred for many years. The lime salts make these cysts easily seen and are readily recognized by anatomists.

Heat kills the trichinella and is its only uncooked meat that is responsible for the spread of the disease. The commonest carriers are frankfurters and hamburgers.

The Meat Inspection Department of the United States Government does not attempt to examine animals for the presence of trichinae. It was found thoroughly impractical to try to do so. If they were not found in a sample piece of muscle, they might be found elsewhere and to be thorough every bit of flesh in the animal would have to be examined. The department requires, however, that food which is usually used as uncooked shall be subjected to a temperature of 5 degrees below zero for 24 days, which kills most of the parasites.

That the frequency of the disease is as high as the health reports suggest is shown by the experience of a pathologist in St. Louis who made a careful examination of the muscles of human bodies coming to autopsy. In a series of about 1500 he has found an incidence of something like 10 per cent.

The symptoms of the disease may vary. One of the very common manifestations is the swelling of the eyelids and of the whole face. The pain in the muscles may be very severe. There are no known means of killing the parasites once they have invaded the muscles. The safest method of dealing with the situation is to be sure to eat nothing but cooked meat.

ONE of the best physical of Vina Bovy, the beautiful opera singer, is her neck slender and graceful, with a throat line and chin. When asked about this enviable attribute she strongly declares that breathing exercises which she had to do since the beginning her career, are strictly accountable for keeping her neck beautiful. She further states that breathing exercises will help woman to keep her throat young—and is there a woman does not loathe the crepey neck old age?

She gave me a splendid exercise for developing the neck beauty which cleverly combines breath control with the control of muscles of the shoulder, hands and neck. You can do it. Stand in stocking feet erect. Place the hands interlocked behind the head. The back of head should rest against the palms. Now try to push the head backwards, resisting by pressing the hands. Every muscle of the neck, hands, arms and shoulders will be tensed. While doing this inhale slowly, and then your breath; keep up the resistance of opposing forces as you can hold your breath.

Let your arms drop pass to your sides, as you let your breath out slowly through your nostrils. Return to the same tensed attitude. This time let your breath out through the nostrils (instead of through your mouth) at several intervals—as if you were about sneeze!

Now take a deep breath, pause before repeating two or three times. This breathing exercise daily will do much to ward off untoward throat line. Before going on to this reduce diet get approval from a physician. While reducing follow Miss L

FRISBY PLEADS FOR SWING SESSIONS OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON.—Lively debate continued in the House of Representatives yesterday when Congressman Frisby took the floor and made a vigorous plea for his bill appropriating $27,000,000 to broadcast the proceedings daily over a nation-wide hook-up.

"Think what it would mean to the housewife chained to her sink," cried Frisby, "if she could, with a twist of her radio dial, bring the scholarly flow of oratory from this assembly right into her cozy home! Instead of low combs, like Fred Allen and Jack Benny, being first in the hearts of the people, these interlopers would be cast aside for golden-tongued idols—like me and you!"

Frisby explained that the appropriation he asks will provide money for instruments for a congressional swing band, which can play each morning.

"Every instrument," he declared, "will be a wind instrument if the members so desire."

Frisby concealed his disgust and did not deign to reply when a visitor in the gallery shouted—

"Why not provide gilt derbies for youse guys to hold over your mouths when you talk?"

We note that Gloria Vanderbilt gave her mother $26,000 last year, her grandmother, $3000, and spent $53 on herself.

At the rate this child is spoiling her elders, they won't be good for a thing when she reaches the age for supporting themselves.

TITAN TOWER

Dr. Blaine Embarrasses Linda by Sending Flowers to Her Office Each Hour During the Afternoon.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

WHILE Linda and Mr. Avon were enacting their own little lunch hour drama, another denizen of Titan Tower was acting his small drama—alone. He was Steve Hubbard of the basement garage.

Hot off in the sun, Steve was gazing fondly through a show window. The show window and its contents had not attracted a crowd. One out of 10 persons who passed, perhaps, would recognize the undramatic instruments displayed therein.

There were protractors and slides and scales and drawing boards and T-squares and gadgets. They were mechanical drawing instruments—the tools of the architect's trade. And there in the middle of minor incidentals, was the instrument. New, in its pristine mechanical splendor, it was an old friend to Steve.

It was a large device, and intricate and very costly. Steve stood there fully 15 minutes, as a child stares at a cherished and too-wonderful-to-hope-for toy. He seemed to be trying to memorize every detail as though he wanted to remember it the way it was, in case anything should happen.

Then he withdrew from his pocket a small black bankbook and opened its pages.

"Next week," he said to himself, "we'll have enough. Cash. It's been a long wait, chum."

"On the other hand," he argued, "what do I want with you? Euclid got along all right without you. They didn't need you to build the Pyramids or the Acropolis or Notre Dame."

The last words, Steve hadn't realized, were spoke aloud. He resumed his silent soliloquy.

"Why not spend it on something worth while?" he asked. "You'll have to show her some fun to work your way back up to zero in her estimation—and you've got competition, capitalized."

"See here, Steve," he continued, "you're alive, aren't you? Why not act like it—and get some fun out of life while you can?"

There was no way for Steve to know that Linda had spoken practically the same words. Or that she was thinking of Bill Blaine, while Steve was thinking of Linda. It was shortly after lunch, when Linda felt considerably refreshed from her brief rest, that the flowers began arriving. First came a small, square white box, satin ribboned. In it lay a single bachelor's button, crushed to look as though it had been retrieved from under the wheel of a truck. Linda didn't appreciate its symbolism right off. That came later, when the other flowers did.

That was no card with the wrecked bachelor's button. The florist's delivery boy couldn't say who had sent it.

Forget-me-nots came next, at 2 o'clock. A small, dainty bunch of them, nothing else. No ferns or other spinach. And the card read simply:

"Remember?"

At 3 o'clock, the little old-fashioned nosegay, all bright and fragrant and dressed in a lace dolly arrived. Linda began to time the hours by the delivery boy. The card this time read: "From day-

As she beat a retreat, Linda could—at that moment—have willingly stood by and watched Bill Blaine drown and quartered.

But by the time she had reached home, her mood had changed again. Linda raced through dinner, scarcely knowing and caring less what she ate. Mrs. Blauer, who remained to keep Mickey for the evening, had prepared dinner and was feeding the boy.

"Where are you going, mother?" Mickey asked solemnly as Linda skipped her dessert and gulped down a cup of coffee. "Can I go, too?"

"No, dear," Linda told him. "Mother's going to a party. She'll take you by-bye later—maybe on a picnic in the park."

After hurriedly kissing him goodnight, Linda gathered a few accessories and dashed for the apartment of Jo and Janice, where her formal and other clothes already had been laid out. Jo, the author of the plot, had paid for her smart cocoa ermine coat, the coat which Jo said "looks like what I'm not, dam it!"

"Hurry, honey!" Janice greeted her at the door. "We won't have time for that special hair-do."

"Don't bother," Linda coolly rejected Janice's offer to help. "I'll take care of it."

PERFECTLY groomed and coiffed, her nails gleaming in long tapers of natural shade, Linda slipped into the filmy cornflower formal which was her "best."

Her high-piled blonde hair and blue eyes were artfully set off by the blue of the gown, but Jo found something to criticize in the ensemble.

"No, huh-un," Jo said, pursing her lips and shaking her head in disapproval. "Not the rhinestone clip. It just doesn't fit in."

"Here, Linda," Janice, her eyes wide in hurt at Linda's continued rebuffs at her every effort to help, "please, honey, wear it. For me."

She held out a beautiful brooch, exquisitely wrought in old gold, in the center of which was a tiny porcelain miniature.

"Mother's," Janice said. Both Linda and Jo knew that it was Janice's most prized possession. Linda smiled her thanks and silently pinned the brooch at her throat, achieving an effect that was totally lovely.

From the dresser, Jo plucked the applicator from a phial and applied a few deft touches to Linda's ears and hair.

"Yum," Jo said. "You're practically resist-proof."

If anything were needed to complete Linda's picture of loveliness, it arrived just at the right moment. It was an exquisite corsage of orchids.

But it was the first imperfect note in a perfect evening. Orchids and cornflower blue were out. Hmmm, thought Linda, I'll show him!

With what she thought was a meaningful smile, she handed the transparent box to Janice.

"For you, darling," she said sweetly.

And before Janice or Jo could recover she had gathered her billowing skirt about her ankles and dashed back to her own apartment. From a tiny vase on the mantel she

Mock Club Sandwiches

We cannot always procure chicken in a hurry, but the nearby store always has cold boiled tongue, so this sandwich may be made quite easily and serve as a delightful treat for the evening lunch. Toast bread and butter it. On the toast place crisp lettuce, then curls of bacon, a fairly thick slice or two thin slices of cold boiled tongue, a slice of tomato and spread with mayonnaise. Top with another piece of buttered toast and serve immediately.

Natural Straw

Natural straw, the perennial accent to spring and summer black, has made an early appearance this year in hats and accessories. The hats are just as enticing as the color names, Taffy, Honey and Molasses, indicate.

Lipstick Towel

A clever idea in the linen department of one of the stores is the lipstick towel, a guest sized towel of vivid red linen that will not tattle on the most brilliantly lipsticked woman. As a companion to the red lipstick towel, which incidentally is plainly marked so there'll be no mistaking it, is the eyebrow pencil towel of black linen and also marked for its purpose.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
A Staff Correspondent of Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark sent mess to the Senate and House to specifically recommending they further consider 36 of 254 bills which the joint revision committee has reported cannot act on without executive recommendation.

Chief among the measures vored by Stark are the St. housing bills, the civil service mission bill, the marriage bill, the measure requiring the sales of public bonds be by bids, the measure prohibiting carrying of weapons in automobiles, the bill providing for a department of St. Louis County placing constables on a salary instead of fee basis.

Executive Action Required
The executive action was quired under an amendment to Constitution, adopted in 1932, hitting the Legislature from siderting any measures after first 70 days of statute revision sions, except appropriation bills, revision bills and bills recommended by the Governor in a message.

The two houses appointed a committee a week ago to check bills and report those which revision measure. Its report recommended that 254 bills be set from the calendars of the houses as not falling within classification of revision bill appropriation bills.

Stark revived 36 of these bills message today. Though not ing a definite decision, the error indicated that, unless an emergency developed, he would add any bills to the list press today.

Action by Legislature.
The Senate, after receiving Governor's message, adopted of the revision committee's report without debate the section proved struck from the calendar 207 bills, and provided for the pointment of a committee to on the standing of all bills introduced in the future. The of the report containing 47 on which the committee was in complete agreement, was called up.

The House deferred action the committee report until to row and extended the period introducing bills five days to mit the presentation of bills vith the Governor's approval, which had been killed by a Committee. These included tret ballot act.

Representative William B. of Montgomery County reintrod today a bill to permit the preston of ballots beyond a year the event of an election co grand jury investigation or prosecution of an election case. A similar measure by Barton killed several weeks ago by House committee on elections new proposal, containing changes in language, has been proved by the St. Louis Board Election Commissioners. A constitutional amend which would permit a levy of cents on the $100 property vation for State blind pension instead of the present maximum of 3 cents was introduced by Representative H. S. Rainwater of Folk County. The present le not producing enough to pay $300-a-year pensions. The amendments would be submitted to people in the November election 1940.

Bills Listed by Stark.
The list in his message follows: House Bills 6 and 77, St. housing bills. Senate Bill 5, requiring examination of applicants for marriage licenses. Senate Bill 253, creating a reau to advertise the State for purpose of attracting tourists. Senate Bill 69, requiring sales of public bonds be by bids.
